WE NOMINATE

Nicholas deBelleville Katzenbach, Deputy Attorney General of these United States and a Princetonian with family roots reaching deep into New Jersey history, who now looms large on the nation's horizon as the individual assuming the heavy burden of responsibility for drafting civil rights legislation acceptable to ultra-liberals, down-the-middlers and reasonable conservatives. To the 41-year old Katzenbach, son of the president of the New Jersey State Board of Education (Mrs. Edward L. Katzenbach), has been entrusted the mission of sounding out an Administration measure capable of meeting the acid test of "Congressional compromise" and, then, the harsh realities of segregation.

At this point in time, the 50th anniversary (almost to the day) of the start of the major Little Rock crisis and with a handful of Southern Governors continuing to stir haunting memories of Nazi Gauleiters, Katzenbach has been the ranking Federal official along the "civil rights battle front." He directed the U.S. Forces the dreadful night James Meredith reached the Ole Miss campus, faced up to Alabama's Governor George C. Wallace in registering Negro students at the University of Alabama, and again this week, with the Federalization of the Alabama National Guard, stretched his normal 14-hour working day to the limits of endurance.

In Washington, some 15 months after he succeeded Supreme Court Justice Byron R. White in his present post, there is a rising, and audible, groundswell of respect for Katzenbach's accomplishments and capacities. A caustic comment to the effect that Katzenbach is essentially a "highly skilled legal technician" was offset by a respected Congressman's evaluation: "I think he's the smartest man in the Administration." One observer accentuates his performance in preparing the legal writ supporting U.S. plans for the naval blockade of Cuba and another his untangling of legal snarls stretching back some two decades.

Philadelphia born, and a graduate of Princeton Country Day School and Phillips Exeter Academy, Katzenbach interrupted his Princeton University studies in his junior year to join the Army Air Force. Early in 1943 the B-25 he was navigating crashed in the Mediterranean and for the next 27 months, behind the fences of Italian and Nazi P.O.W. compounds, he did enough reading to qualify for his Princeton degree several months following his release from the Armed Forces. Throughout his captivity, including two unsuccessful escape attempts, he had held himself to 50 hours of reading a week and had read over 100 volumes.

Graduation from Princeton with honors in its Woodrow Wilson School and an editorship of "The Yale Law Review" were culminated by Katzenbach's selection as a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford. He practiced in Trenton, served as a legal consultant to the Secretary of the Air Force and, from 1952 until 1956, was a member of the Yale Law Faculty. He was winning recognition as Professor of International Law in the University of Chicago when tapped in January, 1961, as Assistant Attorney General — one of the few members of the "New Frontier" not active in politics and then holding a Ford Foundation Research Fellowship in Switzerland.

For his knack, in the opinion of one editorialist, of "making the best out of any bad situation", for sensing the pressing problems of the present and seeing that Federal legislation alone "cannot undo the sins of the past"; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as

HOUSING AGAIN

The Silent Issue. Vacationers returning to Princeton last week from summer holiday found that the same issues were still blowing in the wind.

The season began (officially, one presumes, since it was the first municipal gathering held after the Labor Day holiday) with a meeting of the Borough Planning Board last Wednesday.

It was one of the strangest meetings Princeton has seen in some time, a mad tea-party where Alice herself would have been quite at home.

"You should say what you mean," the March Hare said.

"I do," Alice hastily replied. "At least — I mean what I say, that's the same thing, you know."

"Not the same thing a bit!" said the Hatter.

A stranger, walking into the meeting room in the Borough engineering building would have seen three apparently disinterested spectators, two interested parties and the press. It seemed to be a routine hearing about a minor matter.

Charles La Place, through his attorney, William Baggitt, was presenting to the planning board a request for a minor subdivision. He wanted to split off two lots from the rest of his two-and-one-half acres on North Harrison so that he could build two two-family dwellings.

With the profit from these houses, Mr. LaPlaca would be able to finance a major subdivision of the rest of his North Harrison property.

A Matter of Harmony. Members of the Planning Board, including Mayor Henry Patterson, listened soberly to Mr. Baggitt's presentation. They debated among themselves whether this might not be a major subdivision instead of a minor one because the future extension of Spruce Street is involved and because there is the matter of harmony between the two-lot slice and the rest of Mr. LaPlaca's property.

Mr. Baggitt said he and his client felt that a major subdivision would involve too much time, and he said that they had already been compelled to wait over two months while their engineering firm lined everything up.

"I would like to see a general plan for the entire property," commented Mayor Patterson. He then suggested, and the Board agreed, that the major-minor question be referred to Gordon Griffin, the Borough attorney; to Arthur Brokaw, Borough engineer and to Dodd Mellugh Borough planner.

Shhhh . . . The silent issue, of course, was public housing. No one at the meeting would ever have guessed it, but the Planning Board, Mayor and Council have officially approved Mr. LaPlaca's North Harrison property as a site for 30 units of public housing for the elderly.

Mr. LaPlaca has let it be known that he is not interested in selling to the Housing Authority for this purpose.

Mrs. Gloria Michael, executive director of the Authority, was one of the spectators at the meeting. She listened, she observed, but she did not speak.

No one on the Planning Board referred, even obliquely, to public housing. A public stenographer brought in by Mr. La Place, sat blandly at one end of the table taking it all down, but no one reading his transcript would ever guess that, under the Planning Board table, was a small time bomb.

Time and Money. And time is a factor in the maneuvers. The Princeton Housing Authority has been given a time extension by the federal authority and theoretically must get things nailed down by October 1, only about three weeks away.

As Mr. Baggitt pointed out, it would take considerable time to prepare the presentation of a major subdivision to the Planning Board — certainly longer than October 1.

If the Planning Board allows Mr. LaPlaca to snip off the two lots, the remaining piece of land would presumably be cheaper than the whole. But is Mr. LaPlaca leaving anything the authority could build on?

He submitted, inexplicably, an L-shaped plat to the Planning Board for subdivision, and the whole property is limited anyway, not by the extension of Spruce Street but by the old filled-in quarry. Is all of it useable?

Experts have given to the authority their appraisal of the value of Mr. LaPlaca's land, and although Princeton housing officials do not care to make the figure public, it is thought to be a high one.

The Federal Word. Mrs. Michael will meet next week with Federal housing officials in New York, and they will tell her whether or not 30 units are feasible on the plot in view of the appraisal figure.

Perhaps 50 units might be more economical, but could the Princeton Housing Authority obtain Borough approval for 50 units? It's a question.

So far, Mr. Brokaw, Mr. Griffin and Mr. Mellugh have not met to discuss the major-minor question; however, Mr. Brokaw has said, "Chances are fairly good that it might be declared a major subdivision and personally, I would like to see the entire major subdivision plans. This is very important."

Planners generally do not like to see bits and pieces snipped off a large plot of land in one minor subdivision after another because the result is likely to be a ragged-looking neighborhood.

So, what was left after the mad tea-party on Wednesday

Round-Up

When Gerald Britton of Toms River mailed in a fine for overtime parking in Princeton, he also addressed a letter to the municipal court in which he called the fine "a good example of how you legalized crooks operate" and addrd that he hoped the money would go "toward some useful cause in the borough and not into some town official's pocket."

On Monday, Britton got his answer. Summoned before Borough Magistrate Theodore F. Tams Jr., Britton was made to read the letter aloud, was fined $50, the maximum allowable for overtime parking, plus $5 court costs. Judge Tams also ordered Britton to write a letter of apology sincere enough to be convincing. A fitting counuppance for Writer Britton.

An understandably harassed Princeton woman posted this sign for kids who had persistently gotten the better of landscaping around her pool: "Any one of these ferns has more grace than 12 of you . . ."

In sharp contrast to last year, traffic which swarmed on Princeton for last Saturday's Giants-Eagles game arrived early and left quickly. Police say that practically all visiting cars had cleared town by 6 p.m., which is faster than usual even for the generally smaller crowds that attend the average college game here. Lots of tailgate picnics this year, not so in 1962. The Borough had 43 men handling traffic flow.

Break-in at another undergraduate eating club reported. Cloister Inn this time. Missing a radio, vacuum cleaner, set of dining room curtains, record player and speaker, electric typewriter. Total value unknown. Police say this kind of theft happens every summer. Most clubs are unoccupied much of the time during the summer and therefore easy marks.

Borough Engineer's office says that the contract for the repair of Hodge Road is a 45-day one, but that doesn't necessarily mean it will take that long. Repair work includes a new sewer, catch basins, curbs and resurfacing . . . Section being worked on will be closed to through traffic until it's completed.

Erratum magnum caption under picture of West Windsor's Hawk School in last week's issue said that the building "would be open and ready for the fall term this Thursday." Totally inaccurate. It will be open and ready in 1964.

Schools, populated again last week, had unwelcome summer visitors in the form of juvenile vandals, two of whom did hundreds of dollars worth of damage to Johnson Park story in Topics of the Town, while in Question of the Week (page 19), Princeton area residents comment on the advisability of releasing for publication the names of those under 18 who commit crimes. Other news developments: radio station WIWII went on the air Saturday at noon, will have its official dedication program next Tuesday in the Princeton Playhouse; plans for the relocation of the Pennsylvania Railroad Station were discussed at Monday's meeting of the Township Planning Board . . . the curriculum for the fall session of the Princeton Adult School appears on pages 24 and 25.

was a bag full of "ifs." If the Planning Board decides Mr. LaPlaca can snip off his two lots, then the housing authority may have a less expensive site, which would be very nice. But if he does snip off his two lots, will he leave a buildable plot of ground?

If the Board decides that Mr. LaPlaca cannot snip off the two lots and must go all the way with a major subdivision, what then? And the great big one: If the housing authority must buy all of the LaPlaca land, will the Federal authority go along with the price, or say "Sorry, no"?

"Have you guessed the riddle yet?" the Hatter said,

"No, I give it up," Alice replied, "what's the answer?"

"I haven't the slightest idea," said the Hatter.

"Nor I," said the March Hare.

YOUNG VANDALS CAUGHT

By Township, Borough Police. It may take a while, but cocky juvenile delinquents in town are discovering what happens when they go to the well once to often. As a result, four Borough juveniles have received, and two from the Township are awaiting, disciplinary measures from juvenile authorities.

Detective Fred Porter of the Township police revealed that he has the confession of two juveniles, 11 and 13, who admitted entering the Johnson Park School on five occasions. Both are former students of the school, Porter said.

The destruction the pair wrought during their last caper, pulled sometime over the weekend, reveals considerable industry. Once inside, the two boys threw an electric typewriter on the floor, killed fish in an aquarium, ransacked desk drawers in the principal's secretary's office, taking 82 cents in change and pens and pencils. They broke windows in the physical education room, threw boxes about the stage and broke into the cafeteria and threw ice cream on the floor.

They also: burned windows and magazine racks in the library, entered cabinets in the nurse's office, library and other rooms, threw acid on the library wall, stole ice cream from kitchen freezer and wrote obscene language on the doors of an office and supply cabinet. Police said the youths had entered the school to get earphones belonging to a tape recorder they had stolen the last week in August. The school custodian, Albert Procaccino, reported the damage.

The boys first entered the school the nights of August 23 and 24, gaining entry by breaking a skylight. A desk was rifled but nothing was stolen on this occasion. A week later, they broke a pane of glass in a classroom door and entered the building. In addition to stealing the tape recorder, the enterprising youths left a large stone under a teacher's desk.

After a discussion with juvenile officer Walter Emann, charges will be made against the youths, Detective Porter said. The investigation is still underway. Later, they will appear before juvenile referee Howard Stipp.

ON "TARGET": Target being a ceiling-high stuffed giraffe, adopted mascot of the Littlebrook School. Tall in the saddle is Jonathan Kuhn while Mathieu Roberts buttresses the front and Diane Mooney anchors the rear by holding on to Target's tail. All are members of Mrs. Evelyn Saldick's kindergarten class. Target appeared on the scene about five years ago when he was donated to the school by Mr. and Mrs. Neil O'Connor of 539 Princeton-Kingston Road. The O'Connors had won it on a T.V. program and to them, Target was more of a member of the white elephant species. The name "Target" was chosen after a school-wide contest was held to pick a name.

School Painters Nabbed. In the Borough, Chief Peter McCrohan announced that four students of Princeton High School have been apprehended for defacing the walks and walls of the school with paint on several occasions throughout the summer. Two were 15 years old; two 16.

"This painting was getting to be more than a joke," said Chief McCrohan, "especially when they started painting the school itself. It gets into the granite and is hard to remove. You'd think these boys would have more pride in the appearance of their beautiful school."

The four appeared before Mr Stepp Monday with their parents. Each must pay for damages — about $35 apiece. To pay off their debt, they must shovel snow from the school walks and perform other jobs suggested by school authorities.

Other juveniles were, however, still plying their destructive pastimes. Herbert Kane reported that youths had walked over the top of cars in the Lahiere-Kane used car lot on Tulane Street Friday, scratching the paint and, in one instance, caving in a roof. Chief McCrohan said the marks were left by sneakers estimated to be size 7 and 8.

Across the street, Verheyst Cleaners reported that on the same day, vandals had torn away new aluminum siding which is being added to sheath the outside of the building. Piles of the siding were knocked over, damaging it, and a number of stones were thrown at the siding, the chief said.

SCHOOLS BEGIN

And Plans Will Be Unveiled. School started last week, smoothly in both municipalities, and the Borough announced that it will mark the opening of the academic year by unveiling floor plans and "flavor sketches" of its new Walnut Lane school complex.

The unveiling will be held this Saturday at a press conference. Spokesman will be Dale Sprankle, project architect for the firm of Ernest J. Kump, retained to design the schools.

Chester Stroup, Borough superintendent, announced that things are also moving smoothly in regard to the sale of Nassau Street and Witherspoon Street Schools.

"There is very active interest in both properties," Dr Stroup said, "and the school board doesn't feel compelled to rush in—we're in a position to pick and choose."

Enrollment figures in the Borough held very closely to last year's:

	'62	'63
Nassau St.	611	612
Witherspoon	281	284
High School	1550	1620

The Princeton High School figure is 15 below what the Borough anticipated it would be.

In the Township, there were 103 more boys and girls than last year, but 68 fewer than expected (Estimates were for 2,150):

WHO PAYS?

Township Board Ponders. The old question of who's going to pay how much of what came up again — more than once — at Monday night's meeting of the Township Planning Board. In each case, the answer was, let's table it.

Princeton University, in the person of Vice-President of Ricardo Mestres, appeared before the planners to talk about the proposed new railroad station, and the gist of Mr. Mestres' argument was, the University does not want to pay for extending University Place.

Township engineers have prepared a detailed, highly technical and complex report on the costs involved in extending University and/or widening Alexander Street, providing parking, sidewalks, and the like, and in the end, Planning Board and University agreed to turn their engineers loose on the problem. Engineers will compare the various alternatives (should University and Alexander each be one way in opposite directions" and so on); the different ways in which costs could be alloted, and then report on their findings.

Terhune Road, that orphaned thoroughfare that no property owner seems to want, appeared once again before the Township's planners on Monday night. This time, it's Shady Brook that doesn't want Terhune.

Frank Curran, speaking for Shady Brook's developer, Carl Geiger, told the board that Mr. Geiger does not plan to build any houses fronting on Terhune and therefore finds it hard to see how he would benefit from paying to construct the road.

Also involved, as a matter of principle and precedent, are the properties of Horatio Turner and of Hunt & Augustine, farther out along the Terhune line. If Shady Brook has to pay for building Terhune where it impinges on Shady Brook property, then what about other property-owners"

The board tabled the whole question and decided to ask Township Committee for an overall policy to cover similar situations.

WHWH TO BE DEDICATED

At Special Theater Program. Next Tuesday evening, radio station WHWH will hold a dedication program at the Playhouse. More than 300 residents of the Princeton area have been sent special invitations, but the general public is also being invited, according to an announcement by Herbert W. Hobler, president of WHWH (1350 kc).

The Playhouse program of dedication will include:

7 p.m.-8 p.m. Broadcast of regular music and news from the stage.

8 p.m.-8:40 p.m. Broadcast of the dedication program.

8:45 p.m. Special showing of "The Great Escape."

The new radio station, which went on the air for the first time Saturday at noon, will broadcast, in addition to music, sports events, news and service programs. It will operate from 6 a.m. to midnight each day.

According to an announcement by WHWH the music to be broadcast by the station will cover the spectrum from jazz to classical. Newscasts will include five-minute summaries every hour.

WHWH will also present a number of forum programs throughout the week. "Meet Your Mayor" reports will spotlight all area communities. "Opinion" will be a panel discussion on topical subjects.

The station also has plans for a program on various schools in the area and will, in addition, have a special youth forum made up of teenagers in the area.

September Song

I got out a blanket
To put on my bed
By 3 in the morning,
It's tucked 'round my head.

Warm days, cool nights — that's the pleasant formula the Man will follow for the next few weeks.

The need for rain is still with us, and he may have some in stock before Friday ends. Chances for a bright, late summer weekend are better than even when the showers pass.

MORE "OPEN SPACE"

For Arboretum. "Herrontown Wood," the arboretum on Herrontown Road, will be expanded by 45 acres if the state approves an application by the Mercer County Park Commission for funds to acquire the additional land.

The original heavily wooded tract of 81 acres was donated to the county by the late Dr. Oswald Veblen. His widow still maintains her home on propert next to the aboretum.

The area to be acquired is known as the Levine property and is held in the estate of Claire R. Levine. The Rutgers Recreation and Park study, made in 1961, suggested that the original tract be expanded by the acquisition of additional property so that a true arboretum could be developed. The Township's Open Space plan also provides for enlarging the original Veblen tract.

HE WAS A LEADER OF "THE GREAT ESCAPE": George R. Harsh, Princeton area resident for the past 15 years, was a prisoner in the World War II German maximum-security Stalag Luft III and tunnel "security officer" during the planning and achievement of the daring breakout. The film story of the event, "The Great Escape," is now showing at the Prince and the Playhouse. (Staff Photo)

News Of The THEATRES

FOURTH SEASON READY

At McCarter Theatre. A gala, black-tie premiere performance of "Hedda Gabler," complete with New York critics and celebrities, will open McCarter Theatre's fourth season of repertory on Thursday, October 10, at 8 p.m.

The Hendrik Ibsen classic will be directed by Arthur Luthgow, executive director of McCarter. The cast will be announced shortly.

Opening night festivities will include an on-stage reception following the performance. McCarter officials expect to play host to several New York critics, and to such members of the McCarter Theatre Advisory Council as Joshua Logan, James Stewart, Jose Ferrer and Helen Hayes.

This fall's drama season will consist of four plays grouped together under the title, "The Distaff Side." In his announcement of the theme, Mr. Luthgow pointed out that all four plays feature a woman in a pivotal role.

"It is only appropriate," Mr. Luthgow continued, "that McCarter begin its study with 'Hedda Gabler,' one of the most ruthless portraits of a woman ever written for the stage — a woman who destroys everything and everyone with whom she comes in contact."

Following "Hedda Gabler," McCarter will present Eugene O'Neill's autobiographical masterpiece, "Long Day's Journey Into Night," and a pair of comedies, Oliver Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer" and J. M. Synge's "The Playboy of the Western World."

The company will consist, as it has in the past, of leading New York actors working under guest directors.

As in past seasons, subscription tickets for the series of four plays will be available for Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. There will also be non-subscription performances of all plays except "Playboy of the Western World."

Subscription orders may be placed by calling in person at the McCarter Theatre box-office, by writing to the theatre at Box 526, Princeton, or by calling WA 1-8700.

In addition to the four plays in the "Distaff Side" cycle, McCarter will present a Classic Film series and a number of special events, including companies from on-and-off Broadway productions, concerts, dance offerings and the American tour premieres of two theatrical offerings.

ALBEE PLAY COMING

Reading by Players. The Community Players will open its fall season Sunday, September 22, with a reading of Edward Albee's one-act play, "The American Dream." Those interested in participating in Players' activities are invited to the meeting at 8:30 in Murray Theatre.

The Players planned the Albee work for a summer production but were unable to find a theatre. The cast, directed by Cornelia Rosmini, includes Isobel Abelson, Shirley Kauffman, Thomas A. Queenan, Mark Ritts and Esther Usiskin.

Tentative plans for the 1963-64 season will comprise plays by Brecht, Eliot, Greene and Fry, as well as the "traditional" melodrama for the June production. In addition, the Players are considering shorter works, experimental theatre and discussions by professionals in the theatre.

Membership in the group is required for participation in the workshops, play readings, lectures, social functions and major productions, although members are not committed to devote time to the plays unless they wish. The Players have been in existence for 30 years.

FOUR TRAVEL FILMS SET

For Kiwanis Club Series. The 1963 Travel-Adventure Film Series, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Princeton, will open with a showing on September 24 of "The Changing Heart of Africa" at the Princeton Playhouse. The film, first of the series of four, will be presented by Dr. Arthur Twomey, Director of Education at the Carnegie Institute.

The Kiwanis series, starting its fourth consecutive season, will be presented with two major changes. The location has been shifted from McCarter Theatre to the Playhouse, and the number of programs has been increased to four with no advance in ticket price ($5.00 for adults, $3.00 for students for the series).

Other programs will be on India, on falconry and on life

THE NEW STRAND
(Air-Conditioned)
Coryell St. EX 7-0486
Lambertville, N. J.

What's New at The New Strand?

THURS - SAT, Sept 12 - 14, two Ingmar Bergman films never shown here before, SECRETS OF WOMEN and BRINK OF LIFE. Thurs-Fri, 8:30, Brink first. Sat: Secrets and 6:30 and 10, Brink at 8:30 only.

* * * * * * * *

The New Strand is now completely integrated, the first movie house in Lambertville to take this daring step. We are definitely interested here in the subject of race relations, and when a film comes up dealing with this subject, it is very likely to be shown here. FREE, WHITE AND 21 is a courtroom film which deals with the trial of a Negro for the rape of a white woman. The audience decides if it is rape or consent. On the same program, a British science fiction entry, THE MIND BENDERS. SUN - TUES, Sept 15 - 17. SUN, F W 21 at 7. Benders at 8:30. Mon - Tues, 8:30, F W 21 First.

* * * * * * * *

WED 18 Sept. Louisa Alcott's LITTLE WOMEN, the Technicolor version, with June Allyson, Peter Lawford and a fine supporting cast. 6:30 and 8:45 P.M.

* * * * * * * *

Our monthly program is now mailed to 4000 homes, more than 10% in the Princeton area. Write for it. No charge — except the one you will get out of reading it.

The Great Escape now showing.

ing), based on a true story of a breakout from a maximum-security German prisoner-of-war camp, is a top-rank film, hypnotically absorbing in its meticulous detail, swift and suspenseful in plot and first-rate in performance.

It's more than that. It's "as authentic an account of the actual escape as it possibly could be," according to George R. Harsh of nearby Griggstown. And the quietly affable Mr. Harsh knows, far better than any movie critic ever could, whether it is authentic or not.

For Mr. Harsh was, in World War II and is, as played by James Garner in "The Great Escape," prisoner and "security officer" of the escape tunnels from Stalag Luft III. A resident of the Princeton area for the past 15 years, Mr. Harsh was obviously more than a match for the Gestapo. The contest wasn't really even close.

"Escape" is one of those unusual three-hour films that never drag or droop. There is no preaching, no moralizing, no extraneous buffoonery or incongruous romance, but taut suspense, unflagging action and ultimate triumph that add up to three of the most exciting hours you ever spent at a movie.

"We have put all our rotten eggs in one basket," harrumphs the stalag kommandant to the ranking British officer-prisoner, "and we intend to watch that basket very carefully. With your cooperation, we may all sit out the war very comfortably."

But the British officer merely shrugs off this suggestion by saying that it is the duty of officers "to try to escape, to harass the enemy to the best of their ability." This, in stark simplicity, is the theme of the film.

In retelling this story of fantastic ingenuity, exemplary courage and selfless bravery, John Sturges has produced and directed a classic addition to the library of great action films. For all its authenticity, it seems almost unbelievable that "The Great Escape" really did happen. But it did.

GARDEN

Shock Corridor (now playing) follows "The Caretakers" into the Garden and covers just about the same territory — life in a mental institution. But it does it on a much lower level and budget.

The story is unbelievable enough to be considered more than slightly psychotic itself. A reporter (Peter Breck) on the trail of a murder, is coached by a psychiatrist to act kooky, gets himself committed, drags the info he needs from patients during their periods of lucidity, and ends up a hopeless catatonic schizo himself (with a Pulitzer prize).

Some of the patients represent unusual case histories of mental and emotional illness. One is a Negro who has an obsession to lynch all Negroes, another is an ex-G.I. brainwashed by the Commies.

A third is an atomic scientist, thoroughly shook by the dangerous results of his research. He now spends his time running from reality by a preoccupation with kid's stories and games.

The camera work is good, and Samuel Fuller, the writer, director and producer, has clearly tried hard to give the story some meaning as a reflection of our times. But the contrived plot and the incidental shock-and-sex byplay keep getting in the way.

"Corridor" is, in toto, unpleasant and depressing and pretty shoddy stuff. It seems unlikely that the average seeker of cinematic entertainment will get any therapy from it.

ARE YOU IN VOICE?

Chorus Seeks Members. The Hopewell Valley Chorus will hold its first rehearsal of the season Monday in the auditorium of the Hopewell Borough Elementary School. Singers are needed in all sections of the chorus, and those interested in joining are invited to the meeting at 8:15 p.m.

Jack Hitchcock will direct the group each Monday night, with the Christmas concert the first public performance. Tom Budinger is president.

Auditions On Saturday

Igor Chichagov will head the auditions committee of the Princeton Opera Association, whose fall workshop series begins Saturday, September 21. Appointments for auditions this Saturday afternoon may be made through Mrs. Eleanore Holly, WA 1-6674.

No candidate will be accepted for enrollment without an audition. The group plans a January performance in McCarter and presented a series of abstracts in Princeton and Trenton this summer.

NO ESCAPE THIS TIME: Steve McQueen fails in a one-man breakout attempt in "The Great Escape," now at the Prince and the Playhouse. McQueen plays the part of Hilts, the "cooler king," so called because of his frequent solitary confinement for attempts to get out of the POW camp.

OPEN MEETING

All persons interested in the fun and satisfaction of community theater are cordially invited to attend an open meeting of the Princeton Community Players, Sunday, September 22, at 8:30 p.m. to hear about plans for the forthcoming season, including announcement of tryouts for our first major production.

IT'S NEW To Us

DOWN IS OUT

Fur Is In. For your head, that is. We're not talking about hats, as we are elsewhere on this page, but pillows.

Home Decor, the big towel and drape shop in the Shopping Center, has a new clutch of pillows this fall made out of fur. Leopard, pony, zebra—you know.

Well, it isn't real leopard or zebra, but it is indeed real fur, probably beaver painted to look like zebra, for all we know. In any case, the little square cushions are devastating and will do all kinds of exciting things to a dormitory room. They are $4.98, stuffed with kapok, and Home Decor has big matching pillows to throw on the floor.

We have a bathroom where nothing matches except the charcoal swaths left on white towels by a casual teen-age paw, so we are in a particularly soft position when confronted by Home Decor's new bathroom line. Talk about MATCHING! This collection has: hand towels, bath towels, fingertip towels, wash-cloths, shower curtain, bathmat, bathrug, lidcover, hamper, basket, magazine rack, tissue box, cleanser container and small vanity wastebasket, all exactly alike.

The pattern is a classic fleur de lis in dull gold with a green velvet ribbon, the background is oyster white, the shower curtain taffeta. A striking, dramatic and yet classically simple design. Actually, there are six different colors, but we happened to see the gold and green on white.

Co-ordinating right down the line, Home Decor is showing custom-cut window shades with co-ordinating curtains. There's a juvenile pattern for a child's room, a provincial pattern which would probably blend in nicely with the kitchen sink, and a striped pattern for a tailored bedroom. Cafe curtains blend right along. The colors we saw are golds and browns, or blues and reds.

Moving out and away from the traditional corduroy slipcover for studio couch, Home Decor presents a new collection in a nubbed synthetic fabric which is quite a bit dressier and more formal than the old pinwale.

Blues and greens, rusts and olives, browns and golds, charcoals and browns have been combined in shaggy stripes, or set off alone in jewel-tone solids. More than a dozen colors are here, some of them heavily embossed to make a weighty fabric much more endurable than the usual studio-couch throw.

And while we're on fabrics, we might as well look at the Kenneth curtains, copies of a decorator fabric, but scaled down in price. Yarn dyed with the design woven right in, these draperies are ready made, with a formal custom look. There's a soft blue pattern like watered blocks, and a champagne shade for living or bedroom among others. A supple velvet-like fabric will be along shortly.

All these have matching spreads, most of them with all-over quilting for an extra look of luxury.

Custom draperies by Waverly come in four sample books, and there are big racks of matching bedspreads, some in delicate toile print, others in wonderfully open-hearted blue and purple florals. One particularly splendid one is a brocade in gold, green and steel blue.

GOLD AND WOOL

In Fleck and Line. The combination of wool and gold (it's Lurex, actually) is an unbeatable one for fall dresses. We found the pair blended happily together in a shadow print of deep green and mustard flowers, on the wool counter at Gretchen's Fabrics, Route 130. Alongside, the gold fleck of Lurex appears again in a flashier print of lime, turquoise and green, and a third time in a sinuous beige knit.

And while we're on the subject of wool, consider Gretchen's "flannel," which we put in quotation marks because it's so supple and thin you could draw it through a child's ring. Wool crepe has a more mature texture, and is particularly effective in deep teal green. Bright raspberry, too, if you want to be noticed.

Everybody, but everybody, is wearing black and white wools and Gretchen's obliges by presenting for your needle and scissors a high style grouping which starts off with a magnified herringbone in two-inch stripes, a jumbo houndstooth, snowflake tweeds and an all over black with just the hint of pale grey in its weave.

Our favorite fabric at Gretchen's is a silk brocade so stiff with gold it actually stands at attention. The background is black, the brocade is shades of bright yellow woven into chrysanthemums outlined with gold thread. What an evening coat it would make!

On the same level of luxury, but earlier in the day, there are cashmere plaids like the brown, teal blue and charcoal one, or the widely-spaced bars of beige and pale terracotta and brown

Terracotta appears again in a mohair coating that looks like something a pampered princess would wear. Deep wine and charcoal in stripes, livened by spots of hot pink—there's a coat fabric for you For a lining, choose one of Skinner's sun-back satins with the inner lining woven right into the same fabric.

IT'S A CHINCH

Buggin' My Lawn. This dry, dry summer was the happiest year in a long time for chinch bugs, those amusing and playful little fellows that chomp away on the roots of tender grasses So if you think your lawn looks played out, it's probably dead, done in by the chinch

Now is the time, says John Obal from his garden market on Alexander Street, to do away with the chinch and reestablish your lawn so that you'll have more mowing to do next year than you did this.

First, to find out whether the bugs have indeed been responsible for the alarming state of your grass, either call in a county agricultural agent, summon one of Mr. Obal's staff, or open up a soup can, fill it with water and watch to see whether the bugs leap in for a swim. If they do, you've proved they are there.

Next step is to apply diazinone or Sevin to get rid of them Then, do some heavy raking to aerate the soil Next comes a mixture of good fertilizer and the partienlar kind of seed you require for your particular kind of soil and shade

Obal's market has specially mixed seed for heavy Princeton soils, special seed for deep shade and Merion Blue for sun. You'll have to keep it moist yourself if you want germination, because it doesn't look as though rain would do it for you. Plant before October 10 so that the roots will be well-established, and there you are

Time to finish planning so you can begin planting. You've got about a week before Obal's Dutch hulbs come in, so get out that garden plot plan and fill in the empty spaces now.

Shrubs, rhododendron, azaleas and the big evergreens like Douglas fir, pine and hemlock are in full supply now at Obal's and September is the prime time to plant them all.

This Hat Is Mine

It will be for sure if you make it yourself Gretchen's Fabrics is eager to have you make a hat to wear this fall, eager to the extent of providing all the millinery supplies you need to work with

Buy a black—well, it looks like horsehair—hat frame in any shape you like (cloche, brim, whatever) and use it as the foundation stone for a creation that is really your own.

Try "fur" because fake fur is big this year. Or choose the black and white tweed you're going to use for that fall suit, and have an outfit that is complementary from head to hemline Use real leather trim, or perhaps a snakeskin band in olive or red. Select a grosgrain ribbon for a matching spark, and there you are.

A wooden hat block is available, too, to serve as your workbench.

RAW JUICES AND DIET FOR THE ARTHRITIC

Cheerfulness and optimism are milestones on the road to recovery; but carefully selected raw vegetable juices and the proper diet will keep one there. As is true with so many other diseases, in practically all cases of arthritis, there is a history of vitamin and mineral deficiency in the diet. It is to remedy this lack that fresh fruit and vegetable juices are included in the dietary treatment of this ailment. For FREE booklet on the "VALUE OF RAW JUICES," Address P O Box 332, Princeton, N J.

FIRE GUTS ROOM

Of Hamilton Avenue Home. A second floor bedroom of the home of Robert Cook, 2 Hamilton Avenue, was gutted by flames early Saturday morning. All six members of the family left safely from the frame house which for many years served as the manse for the Methodist Church.

The origin of the fire has not been officially determined. Although it was confined to one room, the rest of the house was damaged by smoke and water. "It really was roaring when we got there," said Robert Mooney, first assistant chief.

Mr. Mooney credits Sgt. Randolph Applegate's quick thinking with preventing the fire from spreading.

According to Mr. Mooney, Sgt. Applegate, one of the first to arrive on the scene, found the hall doors all wide open and he immediately closed the bedroom door to contain the fire. A passing motorist, Michael Pinelli, owner of the Carousel Luncheonette, was the first to notice the flames and sound the alarm, Mr. Mooney said.

REUNION IN SEPTEMBER

Borough Council Reconvenes. Tuesday night's meeting of Mayor and Borough Council was something of a homecoming. For the first time since June the full membership was on hand to tend to the small amount of business on the agenda and, not incidentally, to catch up on the news of each other's vacations.

Main piece of business during the pleasant and relaxed session was the passage of an ordinance which would require a 10-foot set-back from the curb line for future construction. The new ruling is chiefly intended to prevent overbuilding of properties on Nassau Street east of Vandeventer.

Another item: Mrs. Roland Hagnet, 113 Westcott Road, was appointed to the library board to replace G. Vinton Duffield, whose resignation had been accepted with regret at the August meeting.

Other than these bits of legislation, nothing much happened except a steady and amusing exchange of repartee, routine reports, a review of what had gone on during the summer months for the benefit of vacationing members who had missed the July and August sessions, and an intermittent discussion of trees — shade trees, elms, oaks and maples — and shrubs, the care, pruning and replacement thereof. Joyce Kilmer would have loved it.

Borough Engineer Arthur T. Brokaw, in one of the frequent discussions on trees, came up with a statement to which most Princetonians should pay close heed. All those with maples on their property, that is.

Everyone knows what a devastating job elm disease has done and is still doing. According to Mr. Brokaw, some other virus or blight is getting to the maples in Princeton, and he suggests that all property owners keep close tabs on any maple trees on their land for signs of blight-damage.

Yes, it was in the main a pleasant and relaxed session, and it was good to have it that way. The Mayor and Council fully deserve an occasional breezy, easy one to make up for all the long, difficult meetings they have during most of the rest of the year.

TOGETHERNESS

Five Vehicles Collide. During heavy noon-hour traffic, two trucks and three cars came together Monday on Nassau Street in a "chain accident" near the intersection of Moran Avenue. No one was seriously hurt.

First in line, driving a truck, was Samuel Caldwell, 47, of Trenton. He was followed by Huston Baker, 38, of Hamilton Square; Esther Seldner, of 188 Grover Avenue; Biagio Nini, 70, 20 Chestnut Street; and John A. Gaines, 38, of Trenton. Mr. Gaines was driving the second truck.

Mr. Caldwell's truck was not damaged. The others sustained relatively minor damages with the exception of Mr. Nini's car whose front and rear were extensively damaged. Mr. Nini and Mrs. Seldner, the only ones injured, complained of pains in the back and neck. Mrs. Seldner went to Princeton Hospital for x-rays.

Police issued no summonses. According to their records, all five drivers reported going over a "fish wire" that had been stretched across the road by Public Service men working nearby. A fish wire is a strip of metal approximately three-quarters of an inch wide and one-eighth inch thick. Mr. Gaines, last in line, said that as Mr. Nini's car passed over the wire, it sprang up in front of him, causing him to look away from the vehicle in front of him.

BIRTHS

Seventeen Born. Eight girls and nine boys were born last week at Princeton Hospital.

Daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Kiernan, North Post Road, Princeton Junction, September 1; Mr. and Mrs. Alphonso Jackson, Lincoln Highway, South Brunswick, September 2; Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Gerb, 290 Snowden Lane, and Mr. and Mrs. William S. proved construction of this community's 12th light industrial firm, at its regular meeting Monday night. At the new building, the Rosenblad Company of New York will employ a staff of 12 for work in the transferring of heat from one liquid to another.

The building, designed by Madar Olgyay of Princeton, is a one-story structure occupying 5,000 square feet on five acres of land.

GRAND JURY READY

Princetonians Named. Nine residents of Princeton and its environs were among the jurors sworn in on Monday to serve on the September panel of the Mercer County Grand Jury.

They are Carl E. Schulz, 30 Calhreath Drive; Margaret P. Smith, 276 Nassau Street; Ann C. Honore, 36 Littlebrook Road; Charles Rosenblum, 23 Greenhouse Drive; Robert J. Plumb Jr., 107 Meadowbrook Drive and the Rev. Kenneth S. Dannenhauer, 29 Tre-Ar Place.

John D. Guiness of Hopewell, Joseph W. Richards of Lawrence Township and William B. Barbour Jr., of Pennington were also sworn in on Monday.

DEMOCRATS, UNITE!

It's Picnic Time. Democrats and their friends will gather Saturday, September 21, for the Princeton Democratic Club's annual picnic, to be held this year at the Italian-American Sportsmen's Club, Terhune Road.

The picnic will begin at 2 and will last until 7. Nicholas J. Bardolino is general chairman. Mrs. William E. Gordon is in charge of tickets, Mrs. Raymond Male is food chairman, Wallace Holland is entertainment chairman and Oscar May is in charge of beverages.

Tickets are available through Mrs. Gordon, Male's Bookshop or Miss Dilworth, 72 Library Place.

RIGHTS GROUP TO MEET

At Witherspoon School. "A Negro's Life in Princeton" will be discussed at an open meeting of the Princeton Group for Human Rights at 8 p.m. this Thursday in the Witherspoon School.

New York attorney Bruce Wright, a Negro who grew up in Princeton and graduated from the high school in 1939, will be the main speaker. He attended Lincoln University and the New York University Law School. Author of a book of poetry and former member of the Armed Forces, he spoke here last Sunday before the Elizabeth Taylor Bird Fund.

Also on the program are reports on the March in Washington from Mr. Robert Wright and George Alexander. Proposals for civil rights action during the next year will be presented by Henry Drewry of the executive committee. The Rev. Albert D. Tyson Jr., pastor of Mt. Pisgah AME Church, will conduct the meeting.

FATHER HENRY SPEAKER

At St. Paul's PTA Meeting. The Rev. Edward C. Henry will be the speaker at the meeting of St. Paul's Parent-Teacher Association to be held Tuesday evening at 7.

The program will be held in the school auditorium. Prior to it, between 7 and 8, parents will meet with teachers in the classrooms.

COUNTRY DAY OPENS

With Enrollment of 211. The 40th year at Princeton Country Day School began Wednesday with an enrollment of 214, a capacity figure as was the case last fall.

Dining Out

Good food — in the interest of worthy causes — is being sponsored by three area church groups:

Harvest Ham Dinner (this Saturday) at Mt. Zion A.M.E. Church, Little Rocky Hill. Mrs. Lillian Burnett is chairman. Servings begin at noon, and donations are $1.50 at the church, or $1.75 if you'd like your dinner delivered.

Roast Turkey (this Saturday.) The Harvest Home dinner of the Reformed Church at Rocky Hill will be served from 4:30 until 8:30 p.m. Mrs. Lloyd Lewis and Mrs. Edward Weingart are chairmen. Reservations may be made through Mrs. Alfred H. Merritt, WA 4-1934.

Roast Beef. (Saturday, September 28) The Women's Guild for Christian Service will sponsor a roast beef dinner at Blawenburg Reformed Church. Servings will be from 5 to 8 p.m. Tickets, at the door, are $2.25 for adults and $1.25 for children under 12.

when they move to their Great Road campus in 1965, will serve as acting headmaster. He replaces Peter F. Rothermel.

George C. Alexander has joined the faculty to teach shop and fourth-grade geography. Richard C. Griggs, head of the mathematics department in the lower school, has returned following a year's leave of absence.

SIGN UP FOR SCHOOL

Adult Classes to Begin. Registration for the Princeton Adult School's first term will take place next Thursday at the High School from 4 to 6 and 8 to 9:30 p.m. Teachers and the school committee will be present to answer questions at the "Open House," concerning books, supplies, musical instruments and language section placement.

Classes will hold their first sessions the following Thursday, September 26. Course descriptions and the schedule of fees appear on pages 24 and 25 of this issue of TOWN TOPICS.

Interior Decoration. Mrs. Clare Gardner of the American Institute of Decorators will give a new course on "The Challenge and Problems of Interior Decorating." It will combine lectures and workshop sessions to strengthen knowledge and awareness of color and design. Problems of the individual student will be discussed.

Mrs. Gardner managed her own design firm and showroom for ten years, as well as working for Macy's and Stern's. She has acted as consultant to many home decorating firms and has lectured widely to women's clubs.

Modern European Plays. Professor Albert Sonnenfeld of Princeton University will give a course in modern European theatre. Students will read and discuss works by Chekhov, Brecht, Pirandello, Lorca, Anouilh, Beckett and Ionesco.

A beginner's course in silk screen printing will be directed Mrs. Joseph W. Donohue, a painter and designer of stained glass windows. She will teach the stencil method of making cards, posters, stationery, bookplates and place mats.

Among the courses to be repeated this fall are: typing for beginners, Miss Mary Perpetua; clay sculpture for beginning and advanced students, H. Kempton Hastings; bridge for beginning and intermediate players, Mrs. Tobias Brill and Samuel Rabinowitz.

HELP WANTED

Study Center to Re-Open. Boys and girls who want and need academic help will be welcomed once again at the Princeton Study Center, which will re-open on Monday, September 30 for the new school year. Hours will be 7-9:30 p.m.

The Center itself needs help. Thomas Caldwell, who will be ficers are Mrs. Benjamin Shimberg, president. Peter Grosz, first vice-president; Mr. Caldwell, second vice-president and Mrs. Stohlman, third vice-president. Mrs. Jameson Doig will be secretary and Mrs. Loren B. Johnston, treasurer.

Members-at-large are Robert Spears, Jr., Mrs. Edwin Lotz, John Counts, Mrs. George T. Geary, Mrs. Alfred Kornegay, Christopher Wiles, Archie Lummis, Mrs. Rowan Boone, Mrs. Joseph Blanc, Mark Heald and William R. Linke.

The by-laws, prepared by a committee headed by Mrs. Harold Sprout, state that the purpose of the Study Center is "to provide assistance to boys and girls through high school age in reaching a higher level of academic achievement. Such assistance may include the provision of suitable study space, useful reference materials, tutoring services and other appropriate means."

The by-laws also stipulate that the Study Center shall maintain close liaison with both Borough and Township schools.

Anyone who would like to volunteer as Study Assistant or tutor should call Mrs. Blanc at WA 1-6175, Mrs. Geary at WA 4-3391 or Mrs. J. Merrill Knapp, WA 4-2170.

responsible for organizing the study hall program, has sent out a call for someone to supervise the study hall during its evening sessions, and to coordinate the activities of the volunteer staff

Whoever is accepted for the paid position should enjoy working with young people, and be able to establish an atmosphere conducive to study. In short, he must like boys and girls and be able to keep them quiet and at work.

The Study Center was organized last February to provide a place where students through high school age could study without the distractions that are sometimes present in a home.

Later, a tutoring program was added, and 35 seventh-graders from Witherspoon School signed up. This year, the Center plans an expanded tutoring program which will focus on sixth graders in both Borough and Township schools. Mrs. Frederick Stohlman will again direct the tutoring program and William Green of Princeton Theological Seminary will again serve as co-ordinator.

The Princeton Study Center now has a formal organization, with officers and by-laws. Of-

$105 and had his license suspended for one year. A careless driving charge drew a $30 fine. In criminal court, Magistrate Tams ordered Cruser to pay $25 for using profane and indecent language

Elias B. Baker 3rd., 18, 142 Mercer Street, and Richard N. Fryberger, 29, 17 Greenview Avenue, each pleaded guilty to an improper display of plates. Baker was fined $5 court costs; Fryberger, $15.

GOV. HUGHES GUEST

At Bank Reception. Gov Richard J Hughes and Mrs Hughes were the guests of honor at a reception given Saturday by the directors and officers of the Princeton Bank and Trust Co

In acknowledgement of his leadership in sponsoring the tercentenary celebration of New Jersey's statehood, Gov Hughes was presented with a framed color print of Morven, the executive mansion, reproduced from the original painting by Dudley Morris. The bank commissioned the painting for its 125th anniversary and presented it to the State in 1959

In making the presentation to the Governor, George R Cook III, chairman of the bank's board, noted that Morven has been closely connected with New Jersey's history since it was built in 1701. In 1776 it was the home of Richard Stockton, a signer of the Declaration of Independence

In 1834 it was owned and occupied by Commodore Richard F Stockton, a founding director of the bank It remained in the Stockton family until 1945 when it was purchased by the late Governor Walter E Edge and his wife, who presented it to the State in 1953.

YOU CAN'T PRINT THAT: It is an unwritten law in New Jersey that police do not release the names of criminal law-breakers under 18. Whether they should or not is discussed by Walter Ellsworth (left) and Gib Stout. (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: Should police release the names of juvenile offenders (those under 18) or not?

Where asked: Palmer Square.

Walter Ellsworth, Alexander Road, Princeton Junction, carpenter foreman: I think so. I feel if the parents knew, they would take steps to correct their children. I think it would act as a deterrent.

Gilbert Stout, Laurel Avenue, Kingston, construction superintendent: Yes. I think if the parents and the public found out who was behind juvenile crime, then there wouldn't be so much of it. I think the parents should be forced to pay for any damage, not the taxpayers. If they did, you can be sure there would be a lot less of it.

George Sewak, Flemington, mason: Sure. We want to know what kids are juveniles in town. We want to know the names of the kids who are causing all the trouble. And thye should be printed in the paper where everybody can read about them. We're too soft on these kids. I think the parents should be made to be responsible for their actions.

Mrs. Linda Warren, 215 Nassau Street, housewife: I think I'll say "no" because I really don't feel it would help in any way. It really wouldn't stop juvenile delinquents from doing anything or from continuing. To me, it doesn't serve any purpose to put the names of any offenders in the paper, even adults. So everybody knows who did it — but it doesn't solve any problems. People who are embarrassed when their names get in the papers usually are the ones caught speeding, not delinquents or criminals. They don't care. They didn't do it for publicity.

Mrs. Arthur Rittmaster, 114 Galbreath Drive, housewife: I would say for first-time offenders, "no." Not if they are under 18. Then, depending upon the age of the child and perhaps after consultation with the parents involved, leave it to the discreation of the authorities, if there is a second violation. But not first-time offenders because I think one under 18 should be given a chance to reform and not be publicly classified as a juvenile delinquent at age 13 or 14.

Dave Johnson, 20 McCosh Circle, senior, Princeton High School: No, I feel it wrecks the rehabilitation of youth. Say the offense is a minor one—or even a serious one—and the police release the names, many people will read about it and it's none of their business, so to speak. Then if a boy changes his outlook or decides he wants to get a job, it will be harder for him because this bad publicity has been spread around unnecessarily. I think this should be left between the police, the parents and the child. When a boy is still an adolescent, it is not too late to change, to do something for himself. His future is ahead of him. Having one's name printed in the paper as a juvenile delinquent may have a bad psychological effect, especially on an immature person.

Mrs. Charles Young, Wilson Road, housewife: Yes, I think they should. It might scare them if they are treated a little bit more like grown-ups.

Reinhard Bohme, Titusville, Ph.D., Princeton University: No. I suppose when they are penalized for their transgression, they might have learned their lesson the first time around. Hence, their future should not be jeopardized by the publication of their names.

Mrs. Hamilton Cottier, 4 Orchard Circle, housewife: YES! Because I think it might be a deterrent to other possible juvenile delinquents. The police are too soft.

Lennart Bjork, 225-A Marshall Street, graduate student, English: It would depend on the nature of the crime, in my opinion. I think they should print their names if it were a serious crime but I don't think so if it were a minor one because of the stigma attached to it. It just isn't worth it for a minor offense.

Brad Dinsmore, Princeton-Lawrenceville Road, insurance agent: No, I don't think so. Mostly because of how it would affect the parents: their social standing in the community, their business and so on. I think the parents suffer more in a case like this than the offender. Also, I don't think juvenile delinquents should be held responsible. Not in the way an adult should.

Barry Block, 15 University Place, instructor, Princeton University: Sure, they don't seem to do much else to them.

Kevin Kennedy, Herrontown Road, sophomore, Phillips Exeter Academy: No, I don't feel they should. I think many times children don't know what they are doing. They're too impulsive. They do things because they have been dared by older boys or for kicks. It seems fun at the time but it isn't funny when you get caught. I think it is the parent's responsibility to teach proper morals and conduct, and that until juveniles reach a certain age, they should have the right to keep their mistakes among themselves, their parents and the authorities. Growing up is a difficult period. I don't think they should make it any rougher than it need be.

Question Of The Week

Thomas Torner, 224 John Street, clerk, Princeton University Store: I think the defendant should have a choice because there are cases, if a name were released, when it could be detrimental. Not many would want their names printed and I don't think the police should be allowed to go ahead and release them. Some juveniles can't take bad publicity. I would say it all depends on the attitude of the individual. Some can take it, some can't. Therefore, I think it should be left up to the defendant.

Mark Saperstein, Morrisville, Pa., salesman for Kaden's, Palmer Square: No, I don't see what possible service it would do society if they did. It just puts a blot on their names.

Edwin C. McClintock, Virginia, public relations consultant: Under present law, they can't afford to because they open themselves, and the paper which prints the name, to an automatic suit. My own feeling is not in first cases but "yes" for aggravated or repeat offenders when the youngster is no longer, in fact, a juvenile. In the first case, we save him as a useful citizen. In the multiple offender, we might as well treat him as a standard offender. He isn't going to reform.

Teibor Kalishevsky, Philadelphia, market researcher for Mathematics, 20 Nassau Street: No. It would be too much for a juvenile. It could influence their whole life. I'm in favor of more severe punishment, in some cases even corporal punishment, but then it is finished. No names, no publicity. I attended a meeting once among teachers and the name of a boy was brought up who had been caught stealing and it had been published in the papers. Should we admit him or not." Most of the teachers didn't want to because of the bad publicity that attended his name.

Coffman, literature; Mrs. Joseph S. Thomas, creative writing workshop; Mrs. Alfred C. Gay, music; and Mrs. Edward L. McCall, public welfare.

Mrs. Walton Van Winkle Jr. will serve as chairman for the annual luncheon. Mrs. John M. Brown is advisory committee chairman, with Mrs. Norman D. Kelley as auditor.

ART CLASSES SET

For Children at Hilltop. The Hilltop Studio, Belle Mead, will offer classes in creative arts and crafts for children from pre-school through eighth grades. Miss Shirley Claman is the director, and details of the program may be obtained from her at 201 359-6721.

The pre-school class will be held Wednesday mornings from 10 to 11:30. Boys and girls in the first through third grades will meet from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. Tuesdays, with the fourth through eighth grade group scheduled for the same time period on Thursdays.

Among the subjects to be covered are painting with tempera, water colors and oils, drawing with charcoal and pastels, clay modeling and ceramics, wire sculpture, collage, printing on paper and fabrics, puppet making and mosaic design.

OPENINGS AVAILABLE

At Nassau Nursery. A few places for three-year-old boys and girls remain at the Nassau Cooperative Nursery School. The non-sectarian and interracial school meets daily at the Society of Friends, Quaker Road.

Separate classes are held for three and four-year-olds, and scholarships are available in special situations. Inquiries should be directed to Mrs. Kenneth Schwartz, SW 9-1418.

LIONS AID STUDENTS

$900 Allocated. The Princeton Lions Club will give scholarship aid this year totalling $900. Six graduates of Princeton High School are included.

William Kiefer took 15 boys to the Giants-Eagles game as guests of the Club. Murray Abelson is president of the club, with Eric P. Mihan serving as publicity chairman.

NOW ABOUT THOSE TAXES . . . : The eternal question of taxation will be explored by the Princeton League of Women Voters at a public meeting on the proposed bond issue to be held September 30 at 8:15 at Community Park School under the chairmanship of Dr. Lester V. Chandler. Mrs. Gino R. Treves (left) is tax chairman of the Princeton League and Mrs. Earl C. Tanner is president. (Staff Photo)

the direction of Rex Gurcleigh. The schedule will conclude on December 18.

James Marvin, former assistant to prof. Joseph Brown at Princeton University, will teach sculpture, with live models, emphasizing the construction and analysis of the human form. The students will handle plaster for direct building and learn simple mold-making. Mr. Marvin will also give the ceramics course, including hand-forming techniques for pottery and small sculptures.

Modern painting in oil and water colors will be the subjects covered by Robert Mueller. The modern painting course will include the fundamentals of oils, texture and glazes, design and the meaning of abstraction. Students in the watercolors class will also learn the free styles of inks and dyes. Tempera and gouache.

Graphic media studies will be directed by Stefan Martin, who will concentrate on engraving end-grain boxwood. Etching and drypoint will be included in the course. James W. Edwards will give a class in graphic art for commercial use.

Hughie Lee-Smith will continue his Tuesday classes in oil painting for beginners and advanced pupils. Mr. Lee-Smith has taught in New York and Michigan, as well as at the Studio. A brochure on the classes may be obtained by calling WA 4-2889.

LIBRARY NAMES AIDE

For New Building. Dr. Emerson Greenaway will be a consultant to the board of trustees of the Joint Free Public Library in planning the new building. He is director of the Free Library Philadelphia.

Before assuming his present position in 1951, Dr. Greenaway was librarian in Fitchburg and Worcester, Mass., and director of Enoch Pratt Free Library, Baltimore. He is a member of the Pennsylvania Advisory Council on Library Development and is presently planning a regional library.

GARDEN CLUB TO MEET

In Lawrenceville. "Know Your Garden Club" is the topic for the first autumn meeting of the Lawrenceville Garden Club. Members will gather at 1 p.m. Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Barnitz Williams on Campus Hill.

Hostesses for the meeting are Mrs. David N. Penrose, Mrs. William Avirett, Mrs. Joseph E. Hensler, Mrs. Curtis S. Hitchcock and Mrs. Carden McLean.

TIGER TEENS TO DANCE

Open House Saturday At Y. The Tiger Town Teens, formed less than a year ago, will launch its fall program this Saturday at the Y. A "hootenanny" and dancing are scheduled from 8 to midnight, and the snack bar will be open. The entrance fee will be 25 cents.

Officers for the coming year are Jim Jones, president; Cathy Lahey, vice-president; Sue Brown, secretary; and Mickey Mullinnix, treasurer. Last December, about 20 teenagers formed the group to provide a place to go on Saturday nights. During the school year, the Tiger Town Teens held open house at the Y once a month, with attendance ranging from 150 to 300.

Last summer the group went to Palisades Amusement Park and Island Beach State Park, and the Y was open two Saturday nights a month for its use.

The following dates have been reserved for Tiger Town Teens' open houses: October 5 and 26, November 16 and December 7.

YW Needs Volunteers

Special skills, such as crafts and swimming, are needed by the YWCA for its expanded fall program. Those wishing to help in a variety of programs should call the Y, WA 4-4825, or Mrs. Eleanor Thomas, WA 1-9590.

Swimming instructors for both adults and teenagers are sought, as well as leaders for the gymnastic groups. The YW needs persons with a talent for knitting and smocking, and individuals who collect antiques or have traveled.

The teenage program, with broadened plans this year, is looking for women interested in working with this age group.

WOMEN'S ROLE SUBJECT

Of College Club Program. The Women's College Club will discuss the role of women in history as part of its program this year. The first meeting will be held at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday at the home of Mrs. V.K. Zworykin, 103 Battle Road Circle.

An individual member will lead each discussion, scheduled for the first and third Tuesdays of the month. The period to be covered is from the beginning of the 15th century to the end of the 18th. Mrs. H.D. Hedberg will give the background of the program on Tuesday and a bibliography will be distributed.

Those members interested in participating should call Mrs. Zworykin at WA 4-2866 or Mrs. Hedberg at WA 1-7833.

ANNIVERSARY TUESDAY

Of Constitution's Signing. The Sons of the American Revolution will mark the 176th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution this Tuesday. Governor Richard J. Hughes has proclaimed September 17 through 23 as "Constitution Week."

The Sons of the American Revolution adopted the preservation of the Constitution as its strongest tenet at the group's founding. A new chapter, named after "Honest" John Hart of Hopewell, has been started in this area. Mr. Hart was one of five from New Jersey who signed the Declaration of Independence.

Information on membership in the chapter is available through J. Neil Arrington, WA 4-4340.

ONE LESS RING

On Your Doorbell. The Mercer County Association for Retarded Children has become the newest member of the Princeton Area United Fund-Red Cross campaign.

From its center at 1015 Fairmount Avenue, Trenton, the Association conducts preschool classes, recreation groups and a summer day camp. It is now developing a sheltered workshop to help train young people for future jobs.

Its aim is to promote the welfare of mentally retarded persons, whether at home, in the community, or in institutions. As mental retardation impairs the minds of 30 out of every 1000 Americans, the group strives to develop public understanding of the grave problems of the retarded.

The decision to become a member agency, the United Fund notes, eliminates one more individual campaign in the Princeton area, thereby reducing fund-raising costs and saving volunteer manpower.

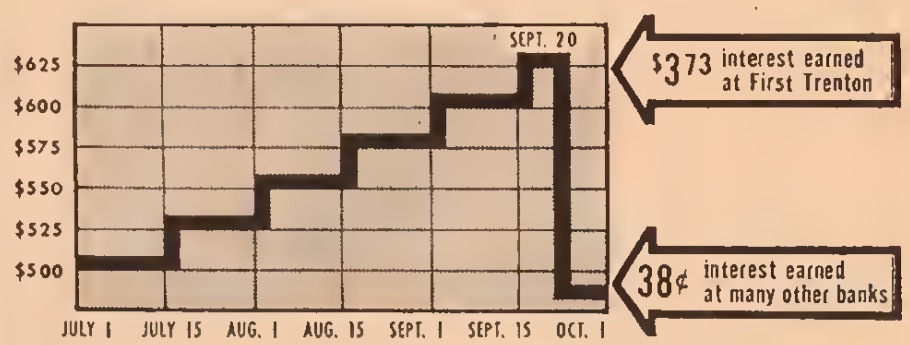
DAILY INTEREST
makes the difference!

First Trenton's DAILY INTEREST ON SAVINGS gives you more for your money!



Here's a saver who has $500 in his savings account on July 1. He deposits $25 every two weeks until September 20, when he withdraws all but $25 from his account.

How is interest figured on your Savings Account?
The method can be more important than the rate. Study this chart. Why this tremendous difference in interest over just one quarterly period? Because, when your savings earn DAILY INTEREST, they earn interest from the day of deposit to the day of withdrawal—not just on the low balance during the calendar quarter. And, at First Trenton, 3% interest is compounded every three months. This interest then starts earning DAILY INTEREST, too!

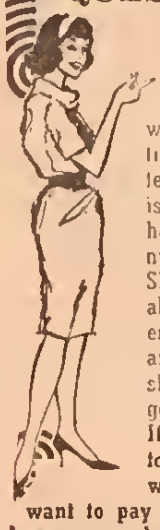
QUESTIONS



I have a center hall house with three active, gregarious teenagers. What is preferable for hall and stairs, nylon or wool? Should I expect about six to seven years of wear and what price should I spend to get such wear?

If you want six to seven years wear and don't want to pay over $8.00 per square yard, by all means buy nylon carpet. Its extra strength will assure the added wear. Its wear will even offset extra cleaning if it happens to be in lighter colors. In a wool for this area, expect to pay $12.00 per square yard or more.

GOING BACK in Town Topics

FIVE YEARS AGO

September 11, 1958. One of Princeton's largest moving jobs had just been successfully completed. "The Big Shuffle", as it was called, moved 330 employees of Educational Testing Service out to the new ETS building on Rosedale Road, switched 270 others into 20 Nassau from such scattered locations as the Shopping Center, 10 Nassau and Upper Pyne.

The shuffle was a total one, with no employee at ETS ending up in the same office he had previously occupied, even if he stayed at 20 Nassau. The entire project was the equivalent of moving 212 fully-furnished seven-room houses.

Brigitte Bardot was drawing crowds to the Playhouse in "La Parisienne", the most recent but quite typically Bardolesque version of "a thinking man's nudie." Warned TOWN TOPICS: "With lascious Brigitte's personality so much in evidence, the flick can barely be labelled a "family' picture."

"Question of the Week" in the September, 1958, issue was: "How would you spend $10,000 if you received the money tax-free tomorrow?" Most Princetonians who answered the questions said they would use it to buy a house pay bills or invest in the stock market.

For one man, however, the idea was clearly overwhelming. "If anybody gave me that much," he said, "it would all go out in hospital bills while I recovered from the shock."

TEN YEARS AGO

September 10, 1953. The wide selection of items for sale through the classified advertising section of TOWN TOPICS in September 1953 ranged from a Homburg hat to a long-established taxi service. In 1963, the range is equally wide: from a century-old London lamp post for $360, to a used laundry basket for $ 50 in last week's issue.

And, just as in 1963, competition to answer the advertisements in 1953 frequently was extreme. In the issue ten years ago, two women had each inserted an ad for a cook. When one misread the other's search for help, she hurriedly answered it by phone and, for a full five minutes, each one thought the other was applying for the job.

The best football player scheduled to come to Princeton in the fall of 1953 was Don Moomaw, a sensational 225-pound linebacker for three seasons at U.C.L.A. and a draft choice of the Los Angeles Rams. No football for Moomaw in Princeton, however, except maybe the informal touch variety; he was enrolled as a student at the Theological Seminary.

The opening events scheduled for McCarter Theatre in September 1953 gave full evidence of the wide diversity of Princeton's esthetic tastes: a fresh-from-Broadway production of Shaw's "Misalliance", a jazz session by Louis Armstrong and His All-Stars and a concert by The Quartetto Italiano.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

September 9, 1948. You could buy a new home in Princeton, according to TOWN TOPICS, for $12,400 (plus a few hundred for the lot) in the fall of 1948. But it would cost a comparatively huge amount if you wanted to be one of the community's early TV owners.

An ad for The Music Shop (telephone: 80) read: "You can enjoy the World Series at home with a large picture television set — price: $785." The set was produced by the same company that, in 1963, turns out a portable for less than $100.

Ten Princeton families felt a definite change in their luck in September 1948 when they learned of their selection as first tenants of Maple Terrace, the housing project sponsored by Gerard B. Lambert opposite Princeton Hospital. Chosen from among 300 applicants, they were considered by the screening committee to have qualified best on a basis of financial responsibility, need for housing and military service in World War II.

Accorded first choice by lot was Mrs. Norma S. Gilbarg, a war widow who had sought unsuccessfully for months to find a place here so that she and her young son might live under the same roof. Others installed with families: J.N. Behrman, Samuel S. Davison, Billie D. Ellis, Joseph H. Hunt, James M. Kopliner, Stanley J. Pazdan, Harry Russo, Donald Snyder and Mrs. Marjorie W. Van Sickel.

fiscal problem of a growing New Jersey?" The meeting will be held on Tuesday, September 17, at 8:30 p.m. at the Community Park School.

The meeting, which will be open to the public, will have as its speakers Lawrence Bilder, executive secretary to Governor Hughes, and Professor Richard Musgrave, Economics Department at Princeton University. Both men will talk on the implications for the individual taxpayer of the State's bond issue advocated by Govenor Hughes. According to Simon Marcson, chairman of the forum, audience discussion will follow the talks.

"We hope that this meeting will contribute constructively toward developing community discussion of the bond issue," Mr. Marcson said. "We are pleased that the subject will be considered further at other civic meetings in the coming weeks . . . What the taxpayers decide can vitally affect our State's economic momentum for the future."

INSTALLATION HELD

By Knights of Columbus. Princeton Council 636 Knights of Columbus held its installation ceremonies at its regular meeting Monday evening. Following the installation of new officers, a buffet was served in honor of all retiring officers.

New officers are: Edgar A. Dormer, grand knight; August J. LiCari, deputy grand knight; William G. Whatley, treasurer; John Stachowicz, financial secretary; Francis H. Duncan, chancellor; George H. Wood Jr., advocate; Raymond W. Wadsworth, warden; Lawrence P. Ferrara, recorder; Anthony J. Vannella, inside guard; and Elmer McHugh, outside guard. Trustees are Peter G. Miller, John J. Cunningham and James B. Kannon.

HOME IS FEATURED

On Magazine Cover. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson, 533 Mercer Road, is featured on the cover of the Fall-Winter issue of "Home Modernizing Guide."

Plans for enlarging the small home located not far from the Princeton Battle Monument were drawn by architect William M. Thompson Jr. who lives next door at 525 Mercer. No relation to the Thompsons, Mr. Thompson, whose designs are published regularly in "New Homes Guide," encouraged his neighbor to enlarge their home.

How successful was the renovation? Within weeks after work was completed, the Thompsons report they were offered twice what they paid for the house.

NEW CLASS IN SESSION

For Practical Nurses. The eighth class at Princeton Hospital's School of Practical Nursing arrived last week for a year of training, joining two other classes already at work. The 20 students in the September 1964 class bring the total number of entrants since January 1960 to 150.

Miss Carol A. Robbins of Hopewell is the sole student from the Princeton area. A graduate of Princeton High School last June, she has been awarded the Soroptimist scholarship.

The March 1964 class held its capping ceremony this week at Lambert House where the new students were welcomed. A total of 98 students have graduated since the opening of the school almost four years ago.

FIVE YEARS, 51 VOICES

At Recording for the Blind. Fifty-one volunteers who have been with Recording for the Blind ever since the organization began to function, five years ago, will be recognized this fall for their services.

There will be no formal ceremony. Instead, each volunteer, as he arrives for a recording session, will be presented with a key-ring bearing a small medallion engraved with the initials of the organization and "1958-63".

From its four recording booths at 100 Stockton Street, the Princeton unit of Recording for the Blind sends out unbreakable 45-r.p.m. discs to blind students all over the United States.

Volunteers, selected after a voice audition, read from physics texts, foreign language manuals and volumes of philosophy. They record the plays of Euripides and the thoughts of Pascal. They read a textbook on child psychology and an essay by Albert Camus.

Many Services Performed. In addition, there are volunteers who do not read, but who come regularly to the office to process the recordings and get them in the mail. At present, one group of volunteers is working out ways to transfer to Braille the diagrams involved in such subjects as theoretical physics or linear algebra, diagrams which are cumbersome to explain verbally, even for a physicist or mathematician.

The system, still in its experimental stage, involves making "Braille" lines with a common dressmaker's wheel and using blobs of hard-drying glue which are easy for a blind reader to distinguish from the standard Braille dot.

All together, including readers, processors and office workers, about 150 volunteers come each week to the studios at 100 Stockton. Mrs. Ralph A. Rotnem is chairman.

Volunteers who will be cited for five years of service are: Mrs. Hans Bauer of Pennington; Mrs. Charles Biddle, Mrs. Earl Bodinson; Mrs. Thomas Bogia of Hopewell; Mrs. John Borden Jr., Mrs. Charles Caldwell Jr., Dr. J.J. Campbell, Mrs. T.W. Cart of Harbourton; Mrs. Harold Cherniss, Dr. Henry Chauncey, Mrs. J. Paul Crawford Jr. of Pennington.

Miss Esther Dilworth, Dr. Douglas Ewing, Dr. George Goldsmith, Mrs. Donald Goodchild, Ernest Gordon, Mrs. Helen Harding, Mrs. Roland Hoguet, Mrs. W.S. Humphrey, Mrs. David Hugh Jones, Mrs. Randall Keator of Rumson; Mrs. A. Ludlow Kramer.

Mrs. G.B. Lambert, Mrs. Ledlie Laughlin, Miss Diana Lucas, R. Douglas MacNamee, Mrs. Norman Mather, Mrs. Frank Mountcastle, Dr. Marston Morse, Robert Morley of Hamilton Square, Mrs. Kenneth Outerbridge.

Mrs. Edgar Palmer, Dr. Peter Putnam, Samuel Reber, Mrs. Rotnem, Mrs. Edward Sampson, Mrs. James Scarff, Mrs. A.G. Shenstone, Mrs Charles Shipway, Dr. Allen Simon, Albridge C. Smith, III, Mrs. Stanley Smoyer, William Stackpole, Mrs. W.F. Stohlman, Mrs. Frederick Stephan, Mrs. George Stevens of Kingston, R.L. Van Oleve, Mrs. Frederick Wierdsma of Hopewell, Mrs. Hugh Wise Jr., J. Taylor Woodward and Mrs. John Wooldridge.

AGE LEVELS CHANGED

In Girl Scout Program. A new Girl Scout program went into effect here Monday. Four age levels will replace the old groupings of Brownies, Intermediates and Seniors.

Princeton's more than 400 Girls Scouts will be organized as Brownies (age 7 and 8); Junior Girl Scouts (9,10,11 years); Cadette Girl Scouts (12,13 and 14), and Senior Girl Scouts (15, 16 and 17).

"Girls are growing up faster today than they did when Girl Scouting started," explains Mrs. Leslie L. Vivian Jr., president of the Mercer Council. "These new age groupings make it possible for troop activities to correspond more closely to their changing needs and interests."

Handbooks for the new age levels go on sale this Monday at the Princeton Shopping Center. Senior and Cadette Scouts will man a booth in the mall from 3 to 5 p.m. through Friday. Pegged at $1, the books are based on suggestions from Scouts across the nation. They are filled with facts, how-to-do-it information and ideas for projects encompassing every activity in the arts, the home and the out-of-doors. Leaders'

BUSINESS In Princeton

FIVE BUSINESS SHIFTS

In 20 Nassau Building. An office-building version of musical chairs is going on at 20 Nassau Street with a new business moving in, three changing location within the building and an optometrist moving out. All five shifts are scheduled to be completed within the next few weeks.

The Ski, Inc., offering a full line of ski equipment and apparel, will move into the area now occupied by Schuster Antiques. Schuster will go next door into the store where the Wilcox Pharmacy has been located for the past 37 years as one of 20 Nassau's "charter tenants."

Wilcox Pharmacy, in turn, will move into the former location of The Watch Shop, which has already moved around the corner into the former offices of Dr. Barry Lavine. Dr. Lavine's offices are now located at 82 Nassau Street. Edmund Cook and Company served as agents for all transactions.

NEW HOME LOTS OPEN

At Princeton Ridge. Stanley Pilshaw and Lewis Kraft, builders of Princeton Ridge in Rocky Hill, have opened for sale 13 additional one and two-acre lots for home construction. Occupancy of these locations is scheduled for next spring.

The new, wooded section overlooks the Hopewell Valley, and on its completion will bring to 59 the number of homes built at Princeton Ridge since its inception in early 1962. The builders are also completing plans for a five-bedroom, three-and-a-half bath ranch home which will be on display with the three other model homes on Washington Street in Rocky Hill.

CITATION OF MERIT: Jack B. Dunn, state director of the U.S. Treasury's savings bond division, presents award for IBM Dayton employees' 95 per cent participation in bond drive to James E. Swaine, Jr., of 147 Crestview Drive. Mr. Swaine is general manager of IBM Supplies Division.

HEATHCOTE OPENS HOME

Also Constructing Area Park. The "Kingston", a new four-bedroom raised ranch model home is now open for inspection at Heathcote, suburban community off Route 1 at Raymond Road, Kingston. The community is now offering four custom home styles, up to five bedroom and three baths, priced from $22,490.

The Heathcote builders have also announced that construction has begun on its 26-acre private park for the community. It will offer recreational facilities exclusively for Heathcote residents and will include tennis courts, baseball fields, picnic groves and a playground for children. The park will also have walks for families in the community.

According to the builders, Heathcote expects a closeout of its first section by the middle of this month. A limited number of houses will be constructed, each on a ¾-acre lot.

The builders are now offering colonial, split-level and ranch style homes, with a new bi-level model to be available in the near future. The homes include such features as raised fireplaces, paneled family rooms, two-car garages and spacious outdoor verandas.

INSURANCE AVAILABLE

At First National Bank. Installment loan borrowers may take out life insurance at the First National Bank. The new service will provide for immediate payment of the balance due on an installment loan at the time of the borrower's death.

The insurance, issued by a reputable company, is available to all regardless of age, occupation or physical condition. A medical examination is not required, and no questions are asked about the borrower's health.

MERGER PLAN ARRANGED

By Consulting Firm. A Princeton management consulting organization played an important part in a major business merger that was consummated last week in New York. Management Planning, Inc., of 192 Nassau Street, conducted the negotiations which led to the completion of the merger.

The firm initiated discussions between the Electrolux Corporation, manufacturer of vacuum cleaners and household products, and the White Mop Wringer Company, manufacturers of floor cleaning equipment and maintenance accessories. The negotiations resulted in the acquisition of the 70-year-old White business by Electrolux.

Discussions between the two companies were conducted by the president of Management Planning, Paul E. Ott Jr., of Province Line Road, with the assistance of his staff. Management Planning specializes in the financial problems of closely-owned corporations and has negotiated a number of similar acquisitions and Mergers in recent years.

IBM GETS THREE AWARDS

For 1963 Bond Campaign. Citations of merit have been awarded the IBM Supplies Division headquarters and plant in Dayton by the United States Treasury Department for support of the 1963 savings bond campaign.

A Princeton resident, James E. Swaine Jr., 147 Crestview Drive is general manager of the supplies division. Another Princetonian, Edward L. McCall, 34 White Pine Lane, is manager of the Dayton plant.

In presenting the awards, Jack B. Dunn, state director of the Treasury's savings bond division, and Walter R. Niles, area director, cited the 95 per cent participation of the IBM Dayton employees in the campaign and the 83 per cent level reached by the division in its locations throughout the country.

VOGEL JOINS ORC

In Communications Field. Alfred Vogel has become a member of the staff of Opinion Research Corporation as a specialist in communications. Previously he was associated with Allegheny Ludlum Steel Co. as manager of employees communications and community relations.

Mr. Vogel holds an A B degree in English from the University of Pennsylvania and an M.S. in Industrial Relations from New York University. He lives at 30 Allwood Drive, Lawrence Township.

COUNSELING OFFERED

To Small Businessmen. The Small Business Administration will send David P. Malone, a loan specialist, to Trenton to advise small businessmen in all areas of their operations and to inform them of Administration programs. The first of four Monday visits is scheduled for September 16.

Mr. Malone will also distribute and accept applications for business loans in Room 11 of the State House. Retailers, wholesalers, service concerns and manufacturers are urged to visit or call him this Monday or September 23 and 30 and October 7.

In discussing the new service, Edward N. Rosa, regional director of the Philadelphia office, said, "Many small businessmen who are eligible for and in need of assistance are simply unaware of SBA's existance. Many others find it inconvenient to come to Philadelphia for information about our programs."

INSURANCE COURSE SET

Connor to Instruct Agents. Donald R. Connor, of 10 Lumar Road, Lawrence Township, has been selected by the Delaware Valley Life Underwriters Association to teach a local class this fall in life insurance. Mr. Connor, a member of the Princeton University Class of 1953, is an agent for the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Mr. Connor is a former president of the Delaware Valley Association, president of the Benjamin Franklin School PTA and vice-chairman of the Lawrence Township board of adjustment. He also is vice-president of the New Jersey State Association and a member of the Lawrence Township Junior Chamber of Commerce.

BIG CROWD, SMALL SHOW

As Giants Swamp Eagles. For the second year in a row, the New York Giants toyed with the Philadephia Eagles in a National Football League exhibition game in Palmer Stadium. The extremely one-sided contest drew another 45,000 spectators to the scene but it also may have created a major problem for the JayCees in sponsoring the game here next year.

At 6:25 of the third period, the Giants' Don Chandler booted a 41-yard field goal to equal the 27-10 margin by which his team had prevailed last September. The contest droned on to a 34-10 final, both teams using reserve quarterbacks and thousands in the crowd leaving well before the scoreless fourth quarter ended.

Having failed by upwards of 1,000 to sell out the Stadium for the past two years, the Jaycees are now running a major risk in booking the Eagles as the Giants' opponents in 1964. The major reconstruction job that must be done before the Philadelphia entry leaves the depths of the NFL's Eastern Conference was apparent early in the first quarter Saturday.

Jaycee publicity as early as mid-summer commenting repeatedly in terms of a capacity crowd led many people to believe that tickets were unavailable in late August. The announced sale was 45,007, against a Stadium capacity of 46,000 and unsold seats in the temporary stands.

Giant Fans Happy. If the day was something of a fizzle from the standpoint of the spectacular, it served nonetheless to let Princeton's large contingent of Giant fans know that Coach Allie Sherman has his defending conference champions in good working order. For instance:

- The famed Giant defense has actually been strengthened by the trade that sent Roosevelt Grier to Los Angeles in exchange for defensive tackle John LoVetere. The 285-lb lineman combined power and speed as he frequently led the charge on Eagle quarterbacks and ball carriers.

- Y.A. Tittle, pro football's best passer, goes into the upcoming season (Giants vs. Colts at Baltimore Sunday) with all of the finesse he showed last year in setting a league record for scoring passes. On Saturday, he was 8 for 12, 113 yards and two touchdowns.
- There is added depth for the team which rolled to a 12-2 mark a year ago: Frank Gifford and Hugh McElhenny, veteran backs, and starting guard Bookie Bolin were held out of action with injuries. Rookies Jim Pace and Charlie Killett will lend added running strength as halfbacks; tackles Lou Kirouac and Lane Howell and end Jerry Hillebrand are first-year men whose unusual versatility will make them most useful during the long season.

93-Yard Run Just Misses. But for a blown block by Pace, Killett would have given the Giants a touchdown on the opening kickoff. The speedy halfback had reached the Eagles 31-yard line when his teammate failed to clear out Irv Cross, the last defender, who kept the Giants from virtually breaking the game open right there.

They had done so, however, by the time the game was less than 21 minutes old. In order, Chandler booted a field goal from the 13; Tittle passed to Alec Webester, whose diagonal jaunt behind great blocking took him 22 yards into the end zone; Webster confounded the Eagles and thousands of Giant fans alike by throwing the first pass of his career — a 23-yard toss to Del Shofner that the fleet Giant end converted into a 74-yard scoring play; defensive back Dick Lynch intercepted a Sonny Jurgensen pass and two plays later, Tittle bootlegged the final three yards untouched across the goal line.

Philadelphia countered with a field goal and a 68-yard touchdown drive to narrow the half-time margin to 24-10, but it was clearly no contest. Tittle and Jurgensen sat out the second half and the Giants sat firmly on Philadelphia, which never came close to scoring in the last two periods.

For the Eagles, Jurgensen completed 9 of 18 for 105 yards and got their lone TD on a quarterback sneak. Pete Retzlaff was the day's top receiver with seven; veteran end Tommy McDonald spent the day on the bench with a charleyhorse.

The teams meet again on September 29 at Franklin Field in the first of two regular season games. If the Giants continue their mastery then and in the return contest on November 10, it will just make ticket sales here next September that much tougher.

Giants Unveil Seatback

The New York Giants revealed a secret weapon in Palmer Stadium Saturday that matched the first pass ever thrown by Alec Webster in crowd appeal.

One of the New Yorkers' backs showed great ability to run the ball when cornered by a horde of tacklers. Statistically, he averaged a fine 8.3 yards in three carries and contributed a touchdown on a quick tour around end, after a bit of masterful faking to a burly fullback plunging into the line.

He's 36-year old Y. A Tittle, who makes cardiac cases of Giant fans every time they think what would happen to their team if his running the ball resulted in an injury.

"FINE FIRST WEEK"

Progress at Blairstown. Good football weather, an absence of early injuries traceable to the fine condition of the squad and a number of impressive performances in the first practice sessions were all reported from Blairstown as Princeton moved toward the opening of the 1963 season.

Howie Stepp, University registrar and avid Tiger football fan, said in the Palmer Stadium press box during the Giant-Eagles game that Dick Colman had told him it was "the best first week of practice we have ever had." Backfield Coach Jake McCandless was equally satisfied as the Tigers began determined efforts to build a team worthy of first-division Ivy standing.

The beginnings at Blairstown have lent belief that greater depth may be available than had been apparent on the pre-season roster. Early development of a number of varsity reserves and sophomores is brightening the picture.

As matters appear now, two sophomores may break into the starting lineup for Princeton — one of them the heftiest guard to see action for the Tigers in a long time. He is Paul Savidge, 215-lb. Hun School alumnus who has demonstrated the mobility that must come with a player his size. The other is Kit Mill, a center with high school experience in single wing football who may be the answer to the crying need for a two-way player at this position.

Sophomore Strength Noted. In addition to this pair, Stan Maliszewski, a 215 lb tackle, has shown well for a sophomore in his first week at Blairstown, although he is not for a minute going to budge either of the veterans, Ed Costello or Captain Bill Guedel, out of a starting assignment. However, Maliszewski, placekicker Charlie Gogolak, fullback Bert Kerstetter and Savidge and Mill are among the leading sophomores who may strengthen the Tigers this year in a more thorough manner than seemed logical to expect.

Another early bright spot is the work of reserve quarterback Don Roth, better known as a starting member of the Tiger basketball team. Unlisted on the preliminary depth chart off his play last season, he gives signs of being able to provide valuable reserve strength behind starter Dick Springs.

Worth watching, too, will be the development of Ned Porter, a junior who saw reserve action as a guard last season. A solid 200 pounds, he may win the starting berth that pairs with the job Savidge is seeking.

The weights that keep popping into print are clear indication that Princeton's problem of fielding one of the lightest teams in the Ivy League may be at an end. As the line now shapes up in tentative fashion, only end Robby Robinson at 190 and Mill at 195 are under 200.

The others: end Bill Howard, 212; tackles Bill Guedel, 200, and Ed Costello, 215; and guards Paul Savidge, 215, and Ned Porter, 200. The Tigers figure to average 205 or better, seven or eight pounds more than they have as recently as two years ago. With competition as rugged as it is, the extra weight — blended with mobility — will be invaluable.

Princeton will be at Blairstown through September 20 taking on Lehigh in a closed scrimmage here the next day. The opener with Rutgers follows on September 28, and with both teams rebuilding toward better times, only one of them will leave the field with a reasonable degree of optimism about the future.

PHS OUTLOOK BRIGHT

(Last of a series of three articles on the 1963 Princeton High School football team.)

Even Split or Better? A year ago, under a new head coach and saddled with a rugged schedule, the Little Tigers of Princeton High School won two and lost six. Will they do better in 1963 and, if so, how much of an improvement can be expected?

Like many football coaches asked to make predictions, PHS coach Dick Wood plays it fairly close to his chest. Mindful of last year's campaign, Wood felt that his team "would come out even and, perhaps, a little bit better. But I won't go as far as to predict a 6-2," he added quickly. "We have high hopes, of course, and I feel the team will come out even at least."

As Wood views it, the question of how much can be expected this year will be answered early. He ranks the squad's opener with North Plainfield on September 28 and its finale against newcomer Cherry Hill as the strongest elevens PHS will face this fall.

Wood must feel much the same way he did last year about North Plainfield. Then he was making his debut as head football coach after having served the previous 16 years as assistant to Joe Jingoli. PHS was meeting North Plainfield for the first time, but its reputation preceded it. "It would be easier and nicer," said Wood before the game, "to open with a less difficult team."

Wood's apprehensions were borne out. Now, he looks for North Plainfield to have one of the better teams in the state again this year. Concerning Cherry Hill, Wood is just as apprehensive if not more so. Cherry Hill is a big Group 4 school which swept to an 8-1 record in 1962.

So, in line with Wood's reckoning and engaging in a little pre-season quarterbacking, North Plainfield and Cherry Hill are consigned to the Little Tiger loss column. That leaves six remaining opponents. What are the prospects here?

Five Out of Six? On the surface they are good. Two of the six — Somerville and Hunterdon Central — are newcomers to the 1963 PHS schedule, although the Blue and White has had previous experience with both. Steinert, Trenton High, Ewing and Hamilton, the other four, are traditional PHS opponents. There, it would not be irrational to pick PHS to defeat five of the six and, possibly, all.

Commenting on Somerville and Hunterdon, Wood said he felt that they should be about equal in ability with PHS this year. "Somerville is always good," he continued. "We used to play them every year. In fact I would say Somerville has beaten us more than any other school and just the time we dropped them they started to go down." The two schools last met four years ago.

Hunterdon and PHS, on the other hand, met last year and the year before but on a scrimmage basis only. In these pre-season tests, PHS more than held its own. On the basis that the Little Tigers are a much improved outfit, credit them with potential victories over Hunterdon and Somerville.

Credit them, too, with triumphs over Hamilton and Steinert. In the Blue and White's two victories in 1962, Hamilton and Steinert were the victims — and easy victims at that. Both had disappointing seasons. Hamilton in particular. Both can be expected to improve but not at the expense of PHS.

A Pair of Toss-Ups. As for Trenton and Ewing, it's toss a coin. These contests could go either way, with the outcome dependent on which team gets the most breaks. For PHS, Trenton is THE game. Last year THS administered Princeton's most heart-breaking defeat of the campaign when it squeaked by an underdog Little Tiger eleven, 3-0, on a field goal in the last three seconds of play. It is as certain as anything can be that Wood and the Little Tigers are pointing to this one.

Ewing represents another 1962 sore spot. Against a strong, well-balanced Blue Devil squad, PHS was guilty of playing indifferent football and was manhandled, 18-0. It was, Wood said, the Little Tiger's worst effort of the year. Here, too, then, PHS is smarting for revenge.

In summary, victories over THS and Ewing would yield the 6-2 record that Wood has dared hoped for. Twin defeats here would leave the Blue and White even, the least of his expectations. Probably the safest course would be to pick PHS to win one of the two and thus finish with a 5-3 record.

Having thus blithely played the entire season for PHS, it would do well to heed a comment made by defensive coach Gerry Groninger. Groninger agreed that on paper, the prospects look very good. But he added, "It's worth remembering that games are won on the field, not on paper."

Staff Is Strengthened. In addition to an experienced squad which includes 17 returning lettermen, Wood has a few other things going for him. His staff is at full strength for the first time. The departure of freshman coach Tony Borzak, who held the position for many years, was offset by the addition of two new coaches.

They are Ronald Dale and Jack Houtenville. A 1949 PHS graduate and a resident of Plainsboro, Houtenville played in the backfield for the Little Tigers and was a member of the Princeton University 150-lb. team. He was instrumental in leading PHS to a lopsided defeat over arch rival Trenton High in 1948.

Dale, a native of Pitman, was a member of his high school squad and also played on the Peddie School eleven. He and Houtenville together with the veteran assistant coaching trio of Groninger, George Povlakitis and Tom Murray, will thus be in position to give more coaching time to more boys, eliminating a situation that Wood felt was detrimental last year.

Wood also reported that he and members of his staff attended football clinics this summer whenever possible and that they have met to pool their information. They also spent considerable time working on plays, trying to make them as fluid and fool-proof as possible. "I thought we could cover all our plays in one or two nights," Wood recalled, "but we found ourselves spending hours on just one or two."

Reserve Pool Large. Another plus is a potentially large pool of sophomores. Last fall, 66 freshman were suited up. "We're going to try to hang on to as many as we can," said Wood. "If we can keep 40 till the end of the season, it would be a tremendous thing, something we could build on for future years and tap even now if necessary."

With so many talented juniors and seniors on the current squad, chances are not too many sophomores will move up. But there are a few already that have caught Wood's attention, as he searches for that superior passer the team lacks.

One in particular is Bill Cirullo, a standout tailback on the freshman squad which finished with a 6-2 record. Cirullo is a good passer according to Wood, and he indicated that Cirullo might be beckoned.

Still another indirect improvement is the purchase of a camera to take motion pictures of each contest. According to Wood, every opponent PHS played last year took films. In Wood's opinion, game pictures are an indispensable tool in coaching today.

Cory S. Kommler

A friend whose hobby is studying the causes of our weather remarked that the earth's atmosphere controls our temperatures as consistently as your room thermostat controls the heat in your home. This is the way he explained it: If the earth didn't have its atmosphere the temperatures would range from a high to low so extreme that man could not have lived on earth at all. It would be somewhat like the moon, where there is virtually no atmosphere, and during the two-week lunar day temperatures reach the 212 degree point of boiling water, and then drop to 238 degrees below zero during the night period, a range of 450 degrees fahrenheit. The earth's atmosphere protects it from too great radiation from the sun during day hours, and filters out the dangerous radiation rays that would be fatal to man. Then, at night the atmosphere becomes a blanket which stops the earth's retained heat from escaping too rapidly. Thus the atmosphere keeps our heat and cold within a bearable maximum and minimum, and we see once again part of the evidence that is all around us of the orderliness and Supreme control of our world. Orderliness, a policy of genuine concern for each customer's welfare, and trained specialists in every department are some of the reasons for your maximum satisfaction and long-run savings when you buy your car from us. Let us show you these reasons as well as some terrific values. Kammler Buick-Pontiac Co., Route 206, opposite Princeton Airport, WA 1-2222.

The importance of films was recounted by Wood after he and his staff had seen one of the PHS-Ewing contest, loaned by Ewing. "We saw things our boys were doing in there we never dreamed were happening. It was a revelation to us."

Finally, for students of the game who like to indulge in finer points, there is this: most high schools gear their defense to stop the T, the most widely used attack among high school teams. PHS still clings to the single wing. It does create a problem, in Wood's opinion, for a coach to have to teach his team how to defend against and unfamiliar offense, and to have to do it for just one game.

At this point, Wood must overcome the problem of not having an adequate passer, and must find capable candidates to fill the weak spots at center and both linebackkers on defense. If he can plug these gaps, then the 5-3 prediction will be subject to improvement.

But regardless of the exact final figures, Wood should do better than break even. The Little Tigers have too much elsewhere—experience, depth, determination, and 1963 should be the year of the Little Tiger.

TWO GOLF TEAMS IN TIE

For McGraw Tournament Cup. Two twosomes tied for first place in the 36-hole member-member Curtis W. McGraw Memorial Tournament at Springdale Golf Club last weekend. George N. Barrie and Lewis H. Sarrett tied with William C. Wallace and John B. Miller at a net best ball of 130.

Thirty-five teams entered the two-day tournament, but nine pairs failed to turn in cards at the end of the second day's play. Playoff of the tie for first place will take place probably this weekend.

Other teams competing in the event and their net scores: Richard B. Judge and Robert A. Metlugh, 131; Karl D. Pettit Jr. and Moore Gates Jr., 133; William H. Sayen IV and Peter Lawson-Johnson, Donald Young and George C. Young, Horace T. Cook Jr. and Kenneth J. Dawes, Robert J. Shaw and Gerald M. Lauck Jr., all 134.

Also, John P. Chubet III and John W. Kauffman, 135; Daniel D. Dickey and William D. Pettit, Roland W. Smith Jr. and Ross E. Shrader, Dr. Willis F. Paine and Otto L. Nelson, 136; William H. Sayen III and William W. Augustine, 137; O. Kline Fulmer and Herbert C. Sturhahn, 138.

Also, Newell B. Woodworth and Glen B. Miller Jr., William R. Shillaber and Frederic R. Peterson, Nelson Case and Norbert A. Considine Jr., 140; George L. Hannah and Mac G. Morris, James G. Campbell Jr. and David B. Sloan 141; Robert McCarthy and John Becker, 143; Christopher R. P. Rodgers and Russell A. Gardner, LeBaron R. Foster and Justus T. Vollbrecht, 144.

William L. Wilson and John O'Donaghue, 145; Frederick T. Richards and Alan C. Poole, Philip J. Wainford and John A. Muller, 146; and Horace Moody and Arthur Gardner, 148.

REEDER, CORL WIN

In Carnegie Sail Races. John Reeder and George Corl triumphed in the Penguin and GP-14 classes in races held Sunday by the Carnegie Sailing Club. It was the first competition of the fall series.

With Paul Fischbeck as his crew, Reeder won one of four Penguin races for a point total of 23.3, edging Dexter Miller who scored 22.4 points. Miller won two of the four races. Other Penguin scores were Walt Foster, 21.0 (one first); Harry Cooke, 16.2; Bob Wilson, 14.1 and Ed Metcalf, 9.0.

Corl, assisted by his wife, Nancy, won three of four GP-14 heats for a score of 20.2.

Obituaries

Ernst Hartwig Kantorowicz, 68, of 22 Alexander Street, died September 8 following an aneurism. He was a professor in the school of historical studies at the Institute for Advanced Study.

Born in Posen, Germany, he studied at the Universities of Berlin and Munich and received his Ph.D. degree from Heidelberg University in 1921. During the 1930's, he was professor at the University of Frankfort and visiting professor at Oxford University, England.

Dr. Kantorowicz came to this country in 1939 as a lecturer at the University of California at Berkeley where he was a professor of history from 1945 to 1951. In the latter year, he was a visiting scholar at Dumbarton Oaks and took his appointment at the Institute.

In 1959, he received the Haskins Medal from the Mediaeval Academy of America, of which he was a fellow. Among his publications are Kaiser Friedrich der Zweite; Laudes regiae; A Study in Liturgical Acclamations and Mediaeval Ruler Worship, and The King's Two Bodies: A Study in Mediaeval Political Theology.

Cremation was under the direction of the Mather Funeral Home.

Mrs. Nataly Dubry, 58, of 166 Nassau Street, died September 7 in New York City. She had been the co-proprietor of The Knitting Shop, 6 North Tulane Street, for the past 14 years.

Mrs. Dubry was born in Paris, France, and was a member of the Cercle Francais of Princeton. Surviving are her daughter, Mrs. Nina Boyden of Princeton, a grandson; and her mother and brother in Paris.

The Rev. Charles W. Marker, pastor of the Princeton Methodist Church, officiated at the service, held at the Mather Funeral Home. Interment was in Princeton Cemetery.

John L. Donald, 86, formerly of 42 Maple Street, died September 8 in Glen Gardner after a lengthy illness. He was the husband of the late Jane A. Donald.

Born in Scotland, Mr. Donald was a resident of Princeton until 1959. Most of his working career was spent as a stonemason with the Matthews Construction Company.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Helen B. MacPherson of Princeton and Mrs. Lillian G. Thompson of Levittown, Pa.; three sons, William T. and John L. of Trenton, and Stanley L. of Princeton; eight grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

The service was held at the Kimble Funeral Home, the Rev. F. Hugh Liffiton of Second Presbyterian Church officiating. Interment will be in Princeton Cemetery at the convenience of the family.

John W. Brooks of Quaker Brook Road died August 28 in Somerset Hospital. He was the husband of the late Mrs. Edith B. Brooks.

He was the former owner of a Kingston hotel, Brooks Manor, and a member of the Kingston Presbyterian Church.

Surviving are two brothers, Jess Brooks of Simpsonville, N. C., and Jacob Brooks of Georgia.

The service was held at the Kimble Funeral Home, the Rev. Clarence K. Brixey of Kingston Presbyterian Church officiating. Interment was in Kingston Cemetery.

Mrs. Harriet Gertrude Chapman, who lived in Princeton for 15 years, died September 2 while visiting her son, Donald E. Chapman, in Island Heights. She was the widow of John H. Chapman who represented New Zealand in the League of Nations.

The Chapmans came to Princeton in the early 1930's and lived at one time at 98 Nassau Street. They moved to Lake Success, N.Y., with the United Nations, where Mr. Chapman died. Mrs. Chapman returned to Geneva, Switzerland, following his death.

Besides her son, Donald, of New York City, she is survived by a son and daughter in Switzerland and several grandchildren. The funeral was held in Toms River, with interment in Geneva.

DuBois Wynkoop, 43, who lived during his boyhood at 306 Nassau Street, died at his home, 935 Edgewood Avenue, Trenton, on September 4, after a long illness. He attended the Taft and Wharton Schools, and graduated from Princeton University, where he was a member of Cloister Inn, in 1941.

He worked at Atlas Precision Productions of Philadelphia, and later was an industrial buyer for the Avco Company of Philco.

Surviving are his wife, Elizabeth Chambers Wynkoop; a son Peter DuBois; a daughter, Elizabeth C.; and a brother Evert. The funeral was held in Trenton, with the Rev. Lloyd G. Chatlin, dean of Trinity Cathedral, officiating. Interment was in Beverley National Cemetery.

In lieu of flowers, contributions are requested for the Mercer County Tuberculosis League.

Joseph A. Orford, 75, of 35 Mercer Street, Hamilton Square died suddenly September 9 in Helene Fuld Hospital. He was a former assistant prof. at the Springdale Golf Club, serving under Walter Bourne.

Born in England, Mr. Orford moved from Princeton to Hamilton Square upon his retirement 15 years ago. He was employed as a laboratory assistant technician at Mercer Rubber Company, Hamilton Square. Husband of the late Frances J. Orford, he was a member of Jeptha Lodge 95 F and AM of Clinton, Conn.

Surviving are a sister, Mrs. Phillis H. Malley, Cheshire, England; two brothers, Vivian and Eric of England, and several nieces and nephews.

The funeral will be held at 10 a.m. this Friday in the Saul Colonial Home, 3795 Nottingham Way, Hamilton Square, the Rev. Ellsworth D. Stone of St. James Episcopal Church, officiating. Masonic services will be held at 8 p.m. this Thursday by the Gothic Lodge 270, F. and A.M. in courtesy of the Jeptha Lodge. Interment will be in parish cemetery of the Hamilton Square Presbyterian Church.

Friends may call between 7 and 9 p.m. Thursday evening.

Mrs. Mary Mills Gemmell Jr., 82, died September 6 at her home, 460 West 24th Street, New York City. She was the mother of Edgar M. Gemmell, administrative vice-president of Princeton University.

Mrs. Gemmell, the widow of John Gemmell Jr., a banker, was chairman of the surgical dressing unit of the New York City Chapter of the American Red Cross for more than 25 years. She directed the work of large groups of women engaged in the hospital and blooddonor programs of the Red Cross. She had attended every national convention of the Red Cross since 1938.

Also surviving is a daughter, Mrs. Janet G. Jainschigg of Darien, Conn.

A private funeral service was held in New York City.

Mrs. Esther Brokaw Terhune, 59, of 36 Model Avenue, Hopewell, died September 9 in Princeton Hospital after suffering a stroke in the Blawenberg post office, where she was a clerk.

A former resident of Blawenberg, she was the widow of Garrett Terhune. Her survivors are a son, Donald V. of Hopewell, and brothers, John Brokaw of Brigewater and Carl Brokaw of New Brunswick.

The funeral will be held Thursday at 2 in the Blawenberg Reformed Church, with the Rev. James I. Cook officiating. Burial will be in Griggstown Cemetery.

News Of The CHURCHES

BULLETIN NOTES

Evangelist. The Rev. D.C. Thomas, pastor of Morning Star Church of God in Christ, has announced a series of spiritual meetings at 8 p.m. at the church, 43½ Birch Avenue, beginning next Monday. The Rev. Foster Powell will be the speaker; and the public is invited.

Ouldoor Service. A worship service beneath a "cathedral of pines" in the garden of Mrs. Homer Jones, 188 Carter Road, will mark the opening of the fall program of the First Presbyterian Church Women's Association. Set for 9:30 a.m. this Monday, the service will be followed by departmental meetings and a buffet luncheon.

Second Church. Two appointments have been announced by the Rev. F. Hugh Liffiton, pastor of Second Presbyterian Church, and Arthur B. Coe chairman of the music committee. Mrs. Kenneth R. Wight, director if the Memorial Handbell Choir, will serve as organist, and Ralph H. Farris, bass-baritone, as director of music.

Mr. Farris, a scholarship student at Westminster Choir College, toured the nation with the college choir in 1957-58, and South America with the Columbus Boychoir in 1957. He has been a soloist with the New England Conservatory choir, and last year was music director at the Avenel (N.J.) Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Wight, who studied under Dr. Alexander McCurdy at Westminster, received her master's degree in sacred music at Union Theological Seminary. She was minister of music at the Livingston Avenue Baptist Church, New Brunswick, for five years.

"Augusta Nash." A film, "The Will of Augusta Nash," will be shown this Sunday at the Fellowship Supper at Kingston Presbyterian Church. A special program will be held for the children. Ray Riss, chairman of the Stewardship and Mission Committee, is being assisted in arrangements by Ronald Berger, James Pizarro, William Ziegler, Serge Agadjanian and Douglas Anderson. The Campbell Circle is in charge of supper arrangements; serving begins at 6:30 p.m.

March Report. The Rev. Dr. William Tucker, interim pastor of Hopewell Presbyterian Church and pastor emeritus of Second Church, will discuss the civil rights March in Washington at a meeting of the Women's Association of Plainsboro Presbyterian, set for 8 p.m. this Tuesday.

First Officers. The board of trustees of the recently-organized Hillsborough Presbyterian Church have elected Vernon L. Swanson as president and Donald E. Bardo secretary.

Penns Neck. The Women's Fellowship of Penns Neck Baptist Church will meet at 8 p.m. next Thursday at the home of Mrs. Clarence Morris on Route 1. Mrs. Archer Vaughn is in charge of devotions.

TONS OF FOOD FOR THE "FALL WALLOPER" were packed into a Volkswagen by First Presbyterian teenagers (from left) Steven Pearson, Richard and Pamela Speedy, and Carolee Walton. Seventy-one attended the young peoples' cook-out held Sunday at the Broadmead playing field. Folk-singing around the campfire, led by guitarists Rich Speedy and John Bailey, closed the evening. Stanley Link is group moderator. (Staff Photo)

NEAR HOPEWELL. 9 bedroom boarding house on 10 acres. Small cottage and several barn buildings. The land is on the hill immediately north of the Boro of Hopewell. This vacation and boarding house has been in operation since before World War I. Due to age, present owner is selling. The place was originally put on the market at $39,000. The price has been reduced to $27,000. The place needs some refurbishing and attention. This is a strategic location and much can be done with it. There is a good living here for the right party. Immediately adjoining land sells for better than $5000 per acre. There is no joking about this. Just check it. RENTALS. A few inquire.

THE TREES STAYED...
AND SO WILL YOU!

When these lovely homes were built in Lawrence Township ...the trees stayed. Hundreds of towering oaks and pines, majestic hickories and flowering dogwoods. The land was the site of a famous tree nursery. The soil is rich, the terrain gently rolling. Next door to the Green Acres Golf Course. An elementary school right on the grounds. Only one mile to the new Lawrenceville Shopping Center. Ten minutes from Princeton and Trenton.

This perfect site attracted one of the finest custom home builders of Princeton. He is building these 33 homes with the quality and luxury features that are his trademark. Come out today. You'll stay!

MANY FEATURES USUALLY FOUND ONLY IN CUSTOM HOMES

And Just 6 Minutes From Princeton

NEW! "THE KINGSTON" RAISED RANCH
4 spacious bedrooms or 3 bedrooms and den, 2½ baths, 2-car garage, formal interior stairway.

THE "CARNEGIE" 11-ROOM SPLIT LEVEL
5 spacious bedrooms, 20' paneled family room, formal dining room, 21' basement, Plantation portico.

"THE PRINCETON" 62-FT. RANCH
3 bedrooms and 2 baths, or 2 extra bedrooms and third bath, paneled family room, basement, 17' RCA Kitchen.

"THE HEATHCOTE" COLONIAL
4 master-sized bedrooms, sunken 23' parquet floor living room, paneled family room with raised fireplace.

Fine homes are but half the story at Heathcote. Add rich, rolling land. And now, Heathcote offers you planned recreation . . . in your own 26-acre private country park!
You'll walk to tennis, baseball, shaded picnic arbors, every family sport. Stroll with your children through private paved walks. There's even a private playground, just for your youngsters, cloistered from hectic traffic or crowds.
Community planning makes big sense. And so do the big new homes at Heathcote. Up to 5 master-sized bedrooms . . . 2 or 3 color ceramic baths . . . your choice of RCA "Connoisseur" or "Magic Chef" Kitchens . . . and outside, the privacy of your own full ¾ acre sculptured lot.

It all sounds so perfect, you'd expect Heathcote to be "way out." It isn't. The price is comfortable. The location: just 6 easy minutes from smart Princeton! Close to shops, supper clubs, concerts, golf — and of course, Princeton University.
Naturally, all improvements, including sidewalks, water and city sewers, are already in and paid for. Low, low taxes too. Imagine all this . . . just 45 minutes from downtown Newark, only 55 minutes from mid-Manhattan!
